U. D. C. Advised To Withhold Memorial Gifts

MRS. W. J. GRACE SENDS STATEMENT TO ALL CHAPTERS

DEPOSIT MEMORIAL MONEY, SHE URGES

Declares Chapters Should Consider Carefully Whether They Can Afford To Aid Coin Sale.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Macon, Ga., April 21.—Mrs. Walter J. Grace, president of the Georgia chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, issued a letter to all chapters tonight, advising the chapters to place money raised for the Stone Mountain memorial on time deposit and to refrain from lending aid in the sale of coins until the matters have been adjusted.

Mrs. Grace's letter follows:

"Let me express to you my appreciation for the letters I have received from you in reply to mine requesting your views on the Stone Mountain controversy. Your warm expressions of confidence in the judgment of your president have made me feel more than before, if possible, the responsibility resting upon me.

"Many inquiries have come to me in regard to the advisability of sending money to the Stone Mountain Memorial association at this time.

"The monument, as planned, will cover more space on the mountain than has been given to the association by Mr. Venable. Mr. Venable has announced that he will not give this additional space until the association has conformed to his views in certain respects. I attended a meeting of the directors of the Stone Mountain association held in Atlanta on April 16, at which the executive committee announced the selection of the new sculptor to do the work on the mountain. At the same meeting a resolution offered in the interest of harmony was rejected by a large majority of the directors present. Inasmuch as the memorial cannot be completed on the scale as planned unless Mr. Venable will give additional space on the mountain, I advise you to place your money for Stone Mountain memorial on time deposit until all this has been adjusted.

"It is to be hoped this adjustment will be accomplished before the memorial coin goes on sale. Unless this is done, the U. D. C. chapters should consider very carefully whether they can afford to lend their influence in selling the coin.

"Faithfully yours,
"RUBY JONES GRACE.

Hollins N. Randolph, president of the Stone Mountain Memorial association, had no comment to make when informed of the text of Mrs. Grace's letter.

Mrs. John A. Perdue, president of the Atlanta chapter, U. D. C., could not be reached for any statement Tuesday night owing to grave illness of her husband.

Easton Sings In 'La Juive,' Ponselle III

Physicians Advise Against Appearance of Great Soprano.

Florence Easton will sing the role of "Rachel" in "La Juive" tonight instead of Rosa Ponselle, who still is confined to her suite at the Biltmore with laryngitis.

In announcing the decision to make no change in the program for the week, officials of the Metropolitan Opera company and of the Atlanta Music Festival association Tuesday night stated that in all probability arrangements would be made for Ponselle to sing in one opera before the week is over, provided, of course, her health permits.

Reports from her bedside Tuesday night told of continued improvement but the inflammation of the vocal chords has not quite disappeared and

Step Is Result of Pact Guaranteeing Maintenance of Patriarchate at Constantinople.

Athens, April 21.—Patriarch Constantine of the Greek orthodox church has been requested to resign, according to dispatches from Salonika. The patriarch's expulsion from Constantinople by the Turks creates an international incident that might have led to serious disorder but for the good offices of the league of nations.

The Greek governor general of Salonika requested the veteran head of the church to resign owing to the conclusion of the Greece-Turk agreement guaranteeing maintenance of the patriarchate at Constantinople.

Here is a remarkable piece of photographic work, showing the arena and the stage while the first act of Monday night's performance of "La Gioconda" was in progress. The photograph was made by Kenneth Rogers, a Constitution staff photographer, who exposed the lower half of the negative while the audience was lighted before the curtain went up on the first act. As soon as the lights in the audience had been extinguished and the stage was illuminated, the upper half of the same negative was exposed, thus showing both the arena and the stage fully lighted. The photograph is a feat of photography, showing two separate and distinct pictures were made on the same negative. The photo was made merely as a time exposure, flashlights being barred from the auditorium by fire prevention regulations.

SENATE REFORMS URGED BY DAWES

Vice President Continues Fight for Cloture in Address at Associated Press Luncheon.

New York, April 21.—Vice President Charles G. Dawes, addressing the twenty-fifth annual luncheon of the Associated Press in the Waldorf-Astoria today, continued his campaign for cloture in the United States senate and called upon the people, countless numbers of whom heard him by radio, to impress upon their individual senators the need for this reform.

Introduced by Frank B. Noyes, president of the Associated Press, and a public official who has "cut out for himself a man-sized job," Mr. Dawes drove home his arguments with characteristic energy, shaking his head vigorously as he talked of the effects of unlimited senatorial debate.

The audience of 1,100 persons, publishers and their guests, applauded enthusiastically when he assured that he had been elected by the people, "not by the senate," and that he believed it his duty to further the non-partisan, non-sectional and patriotic movement for reform in senate procedure.

"The United States senate is responsible to public sentiment and not to me," said the vice president, "but if I can be a conduit in the transmission of public sentiment to the senate, I will be glad to do so."

Crew of Jap Ship Sacrificed To Angry Sea

Freighter Sinks as Great Liner Prepares To Rescue Crew.

On Board the S. S. Homeric, April 21.—(By Radio to the United News, New York.)—In safety aboard this big sea-going Ritz, the passengers of the steamship Homeric peered through the portholes or clung to the rails on Tuesday to watch 33 Japanese sailors, one by one, slip from the foundering Japanese freighter Raifuku Maru and perish in the bill-high seas of the north Atlantic.

They had all vanished and the Raifuku Maru herself had plunged to the bottom amid a spout of spray before the Homeric could maneuver into position to form a lee shelter for the launching of a boat or shoot a life line from ship to ship.

Perhaps, if the Homeric had arrived an hour or two sooner her commander, Captain John Roberts, could have rigged one of the life-saving contrivances that sailorsmen know and saved some of the little figures who stood clinging to the Raifuku's bridge when the Homeric sighted her. The shock of the disaster was the greater because it seemed certain when the Homeric first came up that she could take off the men after their night of torture from exposure and suspense. The Japanese sailors waved their arms from the bridge, apparently jubilant and expecting to be saved.

But then the seas seemed suddenly

EXECUTIVE URGES POLICY OF RIGID ECONOMY

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
New York, April 21.—An address by President Coolidge in which he sounded a message of peace and prosperity, tonight was broadcast from a specially prepared phono-film made a week ago at the white house, marking what was said to be the first attempt ever made to broadcast a voice from the motion picture screen.

The film, which recorded both the movements and voice of the president, was shown at the Friars' club to visiting editors and publishers in New York, dinner guests of M. Koenigsberg, president of King Features syndicate, International News Service and Universal Service. Dr. Lee de Forest personally supervised the making of the film and its projection while the Radio Corporation of America took charge of the broadcasting.

Tonight's demonstration, described as a notable scientific achievement, enabled the president to reach millions of persons with his message without taking active personal part in the immediate proceedings. Expressing his amazement at the wonder of the invention, President Coolidge said that he had chosen to speak of matters as old and familiar as the new process was new and novel.

"The nation holds a position unsurpassed in all former human experience," he said.

"I do not profess that we can secure an era of perfection in earthly existence, but we can provide an era of peace and prosperity, attended with freedom and justice and made more and more satisfying by the ministrations of the charities and humanities of life."

Reiterating his plea for economy in government, the president asserted that the nation must make progress in an orderly, sound, common sense way. The right of private property and self government within limits "imposed not by the fiat of man but by the law of the Creator," he described as the foundation of American government.

"In my opinion, the government can do more to remedy the economic ills of the people by rigid economy in public expenditure than through any other action. The annual costs of our national and local governments, combined, now stand at a sum close to $100 for each inhabitant of the land. It is an ominous fact that only the national government is reducing its debt. The establishment of a system of drastic economy in public expenditure, which has enabled us to pay off about one-fifth of the national debt since 1919, and almost cut in two the national tax burden since 1921, has been one of the main causes in re-establishing a prosperity which has come to include within its benefits almost every one of our inhabitants. Economy reaches everywhere. It carries a blessing to everybody."

Asserting it axiomatic that America must go forward, the president at the same time warned against pretenses and vagaries and against abandonment of the principles of the Declaration of Independence. Living under these principles the American people have come into great material and spiritual possessions, he said.

Caillaux Wins First Battle Against Foes

Government Given Vote of Confidence After Stormy Chamber Fight.

BY JOHN O'BRIEN.
Paris, April 22.—(Wednesday.)—Joseph Caillaux has won the preliminary skirmish to force France to accept him as a minister of the government.

The chamber of deputies voted confidence in the financial policies of the Painleve cabinet after hours of debate, much of which had to do with Caillaux's fitness to be minister of finance.

The chamber gave the government a majority of 86 votes. The official count was 304 to 218.

Faces Chilling Chamber.

The vote of confidence in the government came after Caillaux had risen in the tribune to tell a chilling chamber what he proposed to do about the financial plight of France.

"I am against an increase in the advances of the Bank of France to the government," Caillaux said, "and I do not intend to consolidate the national bonds. First of all the chamber must be read and his nervousness was not diminished by the constant shouts of the conservative deputies who heaped abuse on Caillaux.

Premier Painleve had scarcely begun his budget. I intend

TOLERANCE PLEA MADE BY BAKER

War Secretary Under Wilson Urges This Country To Enter Court of International Justice.

Athens, Ga., April 21.—(Special.)—A plea for tolerance, religious, political and personal, was made here today by Newton D. Baker, secretary of war in the cabinet of Woodrow Wilson, whose address dedicating War Memorial hall formed part of the university's first "parents' day."

Mr. Baker urged that this country enter the court of international justice and thereby throw its influence on the side of the arbitration of international controversies. His address preceded the religious welfare conference which closed by appointment of a committee to draft resolutions to publish and also present to the various religious organizations of the state in order that the four-fold aim of the conference, which will be made an annual event, may be realized.

Committee to Report.

This committee is composed of representatives of all religious denominations and will report sometime Wednesday. The conference, composed of parents and pastors of the University of Georgia students, who came here from their homes to attend the Verdi's "Falstaff" as presented Tuesday night by the Metropolitan Grand Opera company, brooded one of those rare experiences that come once or twice, not often, in a life time.

With a tang like a Tom Fielding story; with music such as even Verdi only wrote once or twice with Serafin's baton again, drawing orchestral magic from massed instruments; with a performance flawless and beyond compare.

With Scotti, Tibbetts, Bori, Alda, Telva, Howard, Tokatyran, Bada, Paltrinieri and Didur for a truly magnificent cast.

Tuesday night, April 21, 1925, will go down in Atlanta's history as one of "those occasions."

This opera by Verdi is really the opera of a man of 78 years ago who, somewhere, had caught in his spirit the humor of eternal youth, the vivacity of undying precocity. It is a roaring farce and the very notes that dance of the strings, woods and brasses of the orchestra are akin to the deep rumbles of gargantuan laughter which the story inspires.

The audience was as brilliant as on the opening night, being very nearly as large and displaying even greater enthusiasm over the opera and the singers.

Atlanta's opera audiences are unique in all experience and a number of box-holders at the Metropolitan in New York, who were present last night for their first Atlanta opera experience, expressed the opinion that so colorful a crowd could not be seen in any other city. They added, also, that the productions were certainly identical with those given in New York, but that occasionally they thought the artists rose to even greater heights.

HIGH TEMPERATURE TO RETURN TODAY SAYS WEATHER-MAN

The cool weather which visited Atlanta Tuesday after a long spell of extreme warmth, is destined to be short-lived, according to C. F. von Herrmann, chief of the United States weather bureau in Atlanta, who promised clear and considerably warmer weather for today.

The mercury, after reaching a height of 85 degrees Monday, tumbled to 63 degrees Tuesday, but is expected to reach 75 degrees today.

The low reading Tuesday morning was 55 degrees and was expected to be about the same this morning, though a maximum of 75 degrees for the warmer hours of the day is promised.

The high winds which hit the city early Tuesday morning caused little or no damage, according to reports.

ATLANTA AIR PORT PLANS ARE PUSHED

Preparation for making Atlanta the greatest air port in the southeast is being pushed to the limit and plans are being drafted and put into execution every day, according to the statement Tuesday of Henderson Hallman, prominent Atlanta attorney and chairman of the air mail route and transportation committee, appointed by Mayor Walter Sims.

"Atlanta people are gradually realizing the vast possibilities of a real air port and the necessity of looking ahead," Mr. Hallman declared. "We are receiving the unstinted cooperation of civic organizations in the city, political leaders and voters and there is no reason why the entire program should not prove successful."

A telegram received by W. R. C. Smith, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, Tuesday afternoon, from Congressman W. D. Upshaw, and turned over to Mr. Hallman, is self-explanatory. It reads:

"Have had two gratifying conferences with postoffice department concerning air mail service for Atlanta. Actually believe something can be accomplished if Miami, Jacksonville and Savannah can be enlisted, so as to furnish enough postal matter, passengers and freight, suggest special committee to confer with interested cities to coordinate action. Expect to arrive in Atlanta from Columbia, Thursday morning. Will be glad to confer with committee Thursday or Friday at your pleasure."

Mr. Hallman stated that a conference had been arranged already, though a positive time had not been set. He stated further that all foregoing suggestions from Mr. Upshaw were in the process of execution and that the outlook was promising.

He will be succeeded here by Montague Salmon, manager of the Lyric in Atlanta.

their annual convention here, as deserving of special attention, not because of its being a more important law than others, but because it is the law "most frequently and flagrantly violated now."

Much argument was indulged in before the convention passed the resolution, introduced by Mrs. Edward N. Arnell, of Swarthmore, Pa., which not only affirmed the league's belief that the principle of the merit system of civil service should be specially applied to the appointment of officers in the federal prohibition unit in the interest of effective enforcement of law, but also called upon individual citizens and state governments for loyal cooperation in the matter of prohibition enforcement.

There had not been a great deal of discussion on the convention's attitude on prohibition enforcement, before it was evident that the women would not be satisfied unless a vote was taken, which would put the league on record, as adding a public opinion in favor of supporting enforcement of the eighteenth amendment.

Mrs. Catt Speaks.

Following an address by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, the convention renewed its previous stand for the world court and added to this support of resolutions permitting United States official representation in the disarmament conference when called by the league of nations, and measures designed for the outlawry of its abolition as a legalized institution.

Mrs. Catt outlined a confession of faith containing 14 points, and renewed proposed cures to two, the first compulsory arbitration and the next regarding as an aggressor nation any one that either refuses to submit its disputes to arbitration or to abide by the award.

South Represented.

The south was creditably represented on the convention program this afternoon, when leading women in public office in the United States were called on to tell something of their experiences. In the presiding officer's chair was Mrs. Solon Jacobs, of Birmingham, Ala.; Mrs. Mary O. Cowper, of Durham, N. C., who has had an active part in the conferences and has been elected regional director for the third region, which includes Georgia, declared she was elected justice of the peace by the legislature which sometimes elects persons justices for special service, elected her to this office because five bills which she had sponsored were defeated at a session of the assembly.

Mrs. James Cowan, who succeeded to her husband's place as mayor of Wilmington, N. C., upon his death, had to leave the convention because this was the day she came up for reelection, but a paper prepared by her was read by Mrs. C. R. Emory of North Carolina. Mrs. Cowan is said to be the first woman mayor in the south.

Although Mrs. Sarah Lee Fain, of Norfolk, who spoke as a legislator in Virginia, declared that she had been both surprised and offended to find that reporters and others who came to see her after her election, were more interested in whether she was blond or brunette, fat or thin than in her views on state matters, it would be impossible not to mention the fact that she is an exceedingly charming young woman and an attractive successor to Virginia's famous statesmen.

Banquet Held.

The banquet this evening introducing women of affairs in foreign countries was the grand climax of the convention, closing with a ringing challenge from Mrs. Catt, based upon the story of what 20 years have accomplished in other lands. Among those who spoke were Mrs. Corbett Ashby, of England, president of the International Woman's Suffrage alliance; Mrs. Margaret MacWilliams, of Canada; Miss Josefa L. Hanes, of Philadelphia; Donna Bertha Lutz, of Brazil; and Countess Di Robilant, of Italy.

DRAGON'S RELEASE ON MURDER CHARGE SOUGHT AT HEARING

Indianapolis, April 21.—Admission to bail of D. C. Stephenson, Earl Killeen and Earl Gearty, the trio held in Indianapolis, was asked in a petition filed today by their attorney, Eph Inman. Judge James A. Collins said a hearing would be held on the petition on Monday, April 27.

In issuing capias for the arrest of the three after the grand jury indicted them last Saturday, Judge Collins specified they should not be admitted to bail and since their arrest yesterday they have been confined in the Marion county jail.

Inman indicated that he would call several witnesses to testify at the hearing on April 27, among them Mrs. George Oberholzer, mother of the girl, Mrs. Oberholzer suffered a nervous collapse and was unable to testify at the coroner's inquest.

Hotel Waiters Strike During Luncheon Rush; Guests Serve Selves

San Francisco, April 21.—While several hundred guests at the hotel St. Francis here were in the midst of their luncheon today, the staff of waiters and waitresses struck. Guests took the strike good-naturedly and the large and fashionable hotel suddenly became a self-serving establishment, patrons looking after their own wants without disorder.

The strike resulted from the dismissal of an employee. The waiters and waitresses demanded that the employee be restored to duty but the management declined. Meanwhile, a new staff was recruited and dinner tonight was served "virtually as usual."

Captain Hemard died at a hospital at 8:45 o'clock.

DAWES NOT FAIR, HARRIS ASSERTS

Washington, April 21.—The methods used by Vice President Dawes in attacking senate rules were criticized today by Senator Harris, of Georgia.

"I regret that Vice President Dawes is not frank with the public in the arguments he is making against the present rules of the senate," Senator Harris declared in a statement he issued today. "He does not tell the public that under the present rules 16 senators can have the senate decide at any time whether it desires to vote on any subject and that the senate can then by a two-thirds vote restrict debate and fix a time for voting."

"He makes the statement that any one man can hold up legislation. As a matter of fact only one or two measures have been held up by a filibuster during my experience in the senate and it is noteworthy that rare restriction debate and fix a time for voting."

"I am not given to making long speeches and regret being required to listen to some of them, but the senate rules are far better than the rules of the house under which the minority there has no voice in legislation. The senate rules are not exactly what I would like in some respects, but they are infinitely better than the house rules."

"Perhaps it might be well for Mr. Dawes to observe the workings of the rules of the senate before he undertakes to amend them. During the last session of the senate, a short one, although three weeks were given almost entirely to the consideration of Muscle Shoals, the senate passed 200 more bills than the house with its 222 rules."

"In my judgment the greatest trouble with legislation not only in congress, but in the state legislatures, is the failure of members to attend committee meetings to perfect legislation, thereby delaying the reporting of bills until the end of the session, where there is such a congestion that there is not time to consider them. That, to my mind, is the greatest trouble in the senate."

NOVELIST LEAVES ON LONG JOURNEY

Harry Hervey, widely known young novelist who at one time was a reporter for The Constitution, left Savannah Tuesday to the McCall Magazine expedition to Asia, according to news received Tuesday night from Savannah. He will be accompanied on his trip by Carleton Hildreth, Savannah boy.

The expedition will leave from San Francisco on May 9 on the steamship President Polk via Hawaii to Japan, where a stop will be made for a month or more, then the trip will be continued to Peking. A record of the journey will be published in McCall's Magazine and later in book form by the Cosmopolitan book company, it is said.

Mr. Hervey's latest book "Ethan Quest," will be ready for sale about May 15. The first part of the story is laid in Savannah and describes parts of the Georgia coast, the river front, the salt marshes and "The Hermitage."

He is author of "The Black Par," "Caravan by Night," and "Where Strange Gods Call."

BOY'S HAND SHATTERED BY EXPLODING CAP

Ten-year-old Dorsey Wilson, of Riverside, narrowly escaped death Tuesday afternoon, when a dynamite cap exploded in his left hand. Surgeons at Grady hospital, where he was rushed for treatment, stated that he might lose a part of three fingers on the left hand as the result of the explosion.

The youth was visiting at the home of his brother, Wesley Wilson, near Hapeville, on Stewart avenue, at the time of the accident. He had strolled through the woods to a spring where he found five dynamite caps in a cloth bag.

"They were pretty and I thought I would heat one of them with a match. Just after I struck the lighted match to the little brass tube it exploded, and that is the last I remember until I was on the way to the hospital," was the story the youth told as he lay on a cot at the hospital, waiting to be taken into the operating room.

Other four caps were in the pocket of the boy's trousers and were found by nurses at the hospital.

DOG INOCULATION NOT 'MONEY-MAKER' OFFICIAL ASSERTS

Denial of charges that the ordinance proposed in council Monday to force inoculation of all dogs in Atlanta with anti-rabies serum would have been "a money-making machine" was made Tuesday by H. W. Burkland, field officer of the Atlanta Humane society.

The charges were made by Alderman J. Allen Couch in speaking against the bill, which later was tabled.

Mr. Burkland's statement follows: "Replying to charges made by Alderman J. Allen Couch against the Atlanta Humane society relative to the inoculation of dogs for the prevention of rabies, will say that such statement was evidently made without full knowledge of the facts on this part."

"In the first place, the ordinance was not introduced by the Atlanta Humane society. They were interested in it only from a humane standpoint of protection of children and animals against rabies."

"The usual professional charge for administering the preventative treatment is $5 per animal, and knowing that if said ordinance was passed there would be a great many people who are too poor to pay the regular charge, we proposed to do the same at actual cost to us, and in a great many cases we would administer the treatment free of charge and pay for same out of the funds of the society."

"I fail to see how this ordinance possibly be considered a money-making machine for the Humane society."

KARNAK OF VAST BENEFIT AFTER AN ATTACK OF FLU

have to catch hold of something to keep from falling. I was so nervous and had such excruciating pains in my head that nights I couldn't sleep, and morning I would have a disagreeable taste in my mouth and just be worn out completely.

"I had been bothered with indigestion for several years before I took the flu, and this condition became so agitated that every morsel I ate caused an awful burning sensation in the pit of my stomach. Only those who have suffered like I did realize how hopeless it makes life seem to be in such a miserable condition."

"It seemed like every time I picked up a paper I read where someone had been wonderfully benefited by Karnak, and I made up my mind to give it a trial. It was really amazing how rapidly this new medicine began building me up. Why, in one week's time I was so remarkably improved that I was able to return to my regular duties."

"I kept taking my Karnak conscientiously, and I can truthfully say that since taking five bottles I feel in as perfect health as I ever did in my life. I have such a grand appetite that I even eat between meals now, and it doesn't cause me a particle of trouble. The headaches are completely gone, my nerves are as steady as a clock, and nights I sleep like a child."

"My friends are all talking about my recovery, and many of them are now taking Karnak, and are as highly pleased with it as I am. I just wish I could tell everybody in Atlanta personally about this wonderful medicine."

Karnak is sold in Atlanta exclusively by Jacobs' Pharmacy, in Decatur by Elkin Drug Co., in East Point by Christian's Pharmacy, and by the leading druggist in every town. —(adv.)

CREW OF JAP SHIP SACRIFICED TO SEA

Realization of the fact that the "one crop" system of farming is economically unsound is being driven home by the ravages the boll weevil and other pests. Burton M. Smith, of North Lake, Wis., declared in presenting a report from the committee on agriculture, the report told of the association's work in encouraging diversification of crops, and its efforts to raise the level of knowledge of scientific farming methods through the country by cooperation with state agricultural colleges and the general dissemination of agricultural information.

Maddox Makes Report.

In the absence of Chairman Fred I. Kent, who it was stated, is preparing to attend the meeting called in Brussels by the United States Chamber of Commerce, Robert Maddox, of Atlanta, submitted the report of the committee on commerce, a chief feature of which was the announcement that the commission was attempting to devise some workable method whereby the value of production of all commodities can be determined annually in this country.

"Tolerance" day exercises and dedicatory program, adopted resolutions, expressing its pleasure to find the religious interest at the university alive and that the administration at the university is so anxious for the "home" pastors and churches to aid in carrying for the religious needs of the students. Recommendations as to how the objects of the conference may be fulfilled will be made by the committee.

Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, of the Methodist church, presided at the conference, which followed a luncheon tendered the visitors and citizens of Athens. Bishop Ainsworth gave the program his hearty endorsement and offered its support to its fulfillment. George Foster Peabody, of New York, trustee of the university and friend to the university, Y. M. C. A., Bishop H. J. Mikel, of the Episcopal diocese of Georgia; Bishop Charles D. Brent, of New York; W. T. Forbes, secretary Athens Y. M. C. A.; Dr. E. L. Hill, pastor of Athens First Presbyterian church; Dr. J. C. Wilkinson, pastor of Athens First Baptist church; Louis D. Newton, editor of the Christian Index; Dr. E. J. Porter, pastor Sparrow Baptist church and member state Baptist executive committee; J. H. Hosch, of Gainesville; Mrs. Edna F. Tate, Fairmont; Miss Robert Johnson, Athens; Dr. John S. Jenkins, LaGrange; E. L. Secrest, university Y. M. C. A.; Chancellor David C. Barrow were the speakers at the religious welfare conference.

Unified Effort Is Result.

Out of this conference, it was pointed out, will probably come a unified effort on the part of the various religious faiths of the state represented at the university to keep in closer contact with the students while they are here. Praise for the work that has already been done in this line was given by the visiting pastors and parents.

It was announced that some denominations are already considering sending to the university a man who shall minister to the religious needs of the students of that faith who are at the institution.

Speakers pointed out that the various denominations in Georgia have neglected their members among the student body at the University of Georgia and while the religious interest of the students there is just as eager and expectant as anywhere else, the "home church" has not kept in as close contact with the boys as it should.

The address of Newton D. Baker was the first feature of the program which ended tonight with a reception to the students, parents and pastors.

Mr. Baker after discussing the part played by the youth of America in the World war, the sacrifices made for their country and the fine spirit which they showed, turned to the youth present at the memorial exercises and urged them to carry on the fight which those who died had to lay down, and use their influence as university men and women to direct the thought of America toward some means of bringing the nations of the world into some machinery that will prevent a future war, which will be more terrible than the awful catastrophe from whose effects we have not yet recovered.

Tolerance Plea Made.

Referring to the need of tolerance, he said that formerly culture implied enough knowledge to create a sympathy for all learning and all knowledge. "If I hope I do not speak harshly," he said, "but the most remarkable characteristic of the times is the prodigious increase of education and the almost corresponding decrease of culture."

He deplored the growing spirit of partisanship, personal, religious and political, declaring that emphasis is being unduly laid on the accidental differences in men. "One of the great elements of culture is tolerance," he pointed out. He said he had great hope for the youth of America, asserting that the natural tendencies of youth are upward and if the old people will get out of the way and remove all hindrances, a better country will be made for the young.

He said that he does not know who is leading public sentiment in America but is certain that it is not the "intellect and conscience of America." He referred here to the world court, declaring that the "intellect and conscience" of America is so held in contempt that a "mere corporal's guard" is able to "defy them and delay a vote on the treaty."

Bishop Brent Speaks.

The memorial exercises began at Woodruff hall at 11:30 o'clock a. m. Bishop Charles D. Brent, of western New York, a world figure, delivered the opening prayer. He was followed by Chancellor David C. Barrow, of the university, philanthropist, educator and Christian statesman.

to roll higher than ever and the Raifuku's dangerous cant, due to the shifting of her grain cargo, became even more acute.

It was only a matter of a few degrees of roll and she would reach the point where she would roll all the way over. The Homer pumped oil onto the sea as she backed toward a strategic position from which to float life-lines across the narrow intervening space of tumbling water.

But even as this ship backed, water and oil were being poured into her in their beds graining with sea-sickness looked on, the Raifuku took a further list toward her beam ends and the sea let go and she was washed over the side to die in the waves.

Death must have come quickly for they had been exposed to the wind in the open sea for some time. The Raifuku brought up her rusted steel bottom, hung for an instant on the surface and went to her rest in the general wreckage that strewed the sea as the graveyard of the North Atlantic.

It was 5:47 o'clock in the morning, Easter Sunday, when the Raifuku's call of distress was heard. The Homer was 111 miles away at the moment and she broke from her course under forced driving, realizing that from her position, with her speed, she was likely to be the first vessel to reach the Raifuku's side.

Raifuku Sighted.

At 10:57, five hours and 10 minutes later, the Homer sighted the Raifuku, which then had a list of almost 90 degrees. Approaching cautiously on the windward side, with oil gushing from her jets to coat the waves, the Homer steamed as near as she could and then, for a moment, she closed in for a look at the wrecked ship. The Raifuku was a passenger ship, and she was carrying a large number of passengers, including women and children, and dared not run close enough to risk a collision with the wallowing hulk.

The perishing sailors did not struggle in the water. They seemed to be too exhausted for that. A few of them were rescued for an instant but most of the men were gone once the water had closed over them.

COAL FREIGHTER SINKS, CREW OF THREE SAVED.

Norfolk, April 21.—The coal-laden barge Lincoln, en route from Norfolk to New York in tow of the schooner Neerless, sprang a leak this morning and went down off the coast guard station at Assateague, Va.

Captain Hansen, his wife and a deck hand comprising the crew, were rescued. The barge Suffolk, also coal-laden, and part of the same tow, likewise sprang a leak but her crew was able to make temporary repairs and the barge proceeded with her to New York.

The tug and her two barges ran into a stiff blow soon after leaving the Virginia Capes and the Lincoln went down before she could be gotten into the harbor at Assateague.

CAILLAUX WINS IN FIRST BOUT WITH FOES

to propose the budget for 1926 in June, incorporating in it all new revenue. "I would like to see you to remember that I am the minister who introduced the income tax."

The day was one of holiest disorder in the chamber where Premier Painleve had read the ministerial declaration. The premier trembled, opened his lips when a conservative opened his first within ten minutes the first parliamentary battle of the war that is to rage around Caillaux so long as he remains in public life had created almost unprecedented interruptions in the cabinet statement.

For every hoot from the right benches there was a cheer from the left and when Painleve returned to his seat the chamber divided about equally in applauding and condemning the declaration. Painleve's appearance with his cabinet was the debut of the new left government. No premier before him ever had to contend with the gusts of interruption and abuse that heaped Caillaux throughout the time he stood before the chamber reading his statement of policy.

The old ranks of the right deputies were directed at Caillaux and not at the premier for the most part, but some of them were to rebuke the new head of the government for presuming to raise Caillaux from the political disrepute where his war-time activity had cast him to a seat on the ministerial bench.

Even from the public galleries came denunciations of Caillaux—the man suspected of dealing with Bolo Pasha.

Attack Starts.

The attack on Caillaux began with scattered shouts as he entered the chamber. Then more pertinent interruptions of Painleve's reading of the declaration indicated the conservative temper. Painleve mentioned war-time sacrifices.

"Caillaux, has he made any sacrifices?" a right deputy yelled. Painleve referred to soldiers.

"Was Caillaux ever a soldier?" bellowed another.

Shouts of "Bolo Pasha," the traitor, and "amnesty" rang through the chamber at intervals.

Then Deputy Charles Bertrand, president of the veterans' union, began the regular debate.

"It is with profound emotion and stupor that the country observes the presence of Joseph Caillaux in the cabinet," he said. "I hope the country has not come to such a pass that it must choose between Caillaux and bankruptcy. His presence here is a proof of moral bankruptcy."

"If you had been innocent," Bertrand shouted, turning dramatically toward Caillaux, "you would have asked revision of your trial instead of entering freedom through the back door of political party amnesty. Your presence is a defiance to the dead and to the living."

Caillaux spun his monocle on its ribbon.

Jean Gey, a follower of former Premier Poincare, took up the attack.

"How can we have confidence in a man who had no confidence in his own country during the war?" he demanded. "If Caillaux was right then the combatants were wrong. He should have demanded a retrial before coming to power. Until the senate has voted on the cabinet I refuse to sit in the chamber with him."

Caillaux rotated to toy with his little glass, screwing it vigorously into his eye and the dropping it to the floor to emphasize his scorn for the men who assailed him.

Briand, who is not a personal friend of Caillaux, rose to the defense of the government through the back door of political party amnesty. He said he had seen all the documents and that Caillaux had been guilty of no wrong, although some of his actions were ill-advised.

Caillaux Flashily Dressed.

The minister of finance arrived in the chamber dressed flashily, as is his custom, and, after waving a disdainful hand at his critics as the shouting began, settled back to toy with his monocle as an evidence of his disregard of the hullabaloo from the right benches.

As the attack became more bitter Caillaux momentarily had difficulty in restraining himself. Plainly he wanted to leap to his feet to answer his tormentors. Outside the chamber building squads of police stood ready to cap any demonstration with suppression. Within, many police officers in plain clothes paced the lobby. Once Caillaux left the chamber at a bitter attack but he returned to make the brief statement of his financial policies.

Painleve has endeavored to escape many of the votes that brought former Premier Herriot to defeat. The new government will not abolish the French embassy to the Vatican but will maintain the holy see as a highly qualified representative. Aristide Briand, foreign minister, told reporters before the chamber convenes that this meant the French representative would be an ambassador. This change of front will placate the senate, where the government is desperately in need of support.

Socialists, who have insisted on abolition of the embassy, decided to support the government despite the cabinet's veto policy which is directly opposite to their own.

Painleve will go easy on the subject of stripping Alsace and Lorraine Catholics of their control in schools of those provinces. This is another question that climatically would have tripped Herriot if the financial matter had not got him first. The third of the principal socialist demands evaded by Painleve had to do with the reduction of the term of compulsory military service. That must wait, the declaration said until French security is assured by more peaceful conditions in Europe.

Briand supplemented the declaration's statement for the first time, telling the chamber that Herriot's foreign policy would be carried on and that French security depends upon close union with the allies and support of the League of Nations.

mission of public sentiment upon those senators in their individual constituencies I will be satisfied to quit office."

Then, turning to Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas, a publisher, who was in the audience, Mr. Dawes asserted:

"Let me tell you another thing, senator, you look out for a man that has not got office on his mind, either to keep in office or to get out of one. Look out for him when he comes to the matter of bringing public sentiment to bear upon senators in their individual constituencies."

"What the people want is sincerity. There is no greater calamity to any man when he is ambitious than to have the right of unlimited debate. Why? Because through the years as he speaks on every subject at great length—wonderful speeches, sometimes—the American people are interpreting his character and motives and ambitions, and they come to know, whether he is out for the accomplishment of public good, irrespective of personal effect upon him or whether he is first for keeping in office or getting into another."

Puffs at Old Pipe.

Between the luncheon courses and during Mr. Noyes' presidential address Mr. Dawes puffed briskly at his famous inverted pipe. It came out of his pocket during the fruit course and he put it away only as he was being introduced. Between puffs he chatted with Mr. Noyes, General Pershing, Owen D. Young, his colleague in the reparations report, Melville E. Stone, counselor and former general manager of the Associated Press, and other guests at the speaker's table, once leaving his chair to converse with a friend several seats away.

Mr. Dawes prefaced his prepared speech, which he assured the audience was only 12 minutes long, with an extemporaneous tribute to the "pioneers of the Associated Press," referring primarily to Mr. Stone and Victor F. Lawson, who established the association in its present form 25 years ago. Then, picking up his address, Mr. Dawes said: "Now, I'll get down to business. I hate to do this, and proceeded to read the speech."

The issue involved, he said, was: "Shall the senate continue under its existing rules which admittedly make possible, at times, the exercise by a minority or even one senator of power to block the purpose of a majority of the senate to legislate?"

The average citizen, asserted Mr. Dawes, "knows there is at question the possession, in certain circumstances, of power by minorities and individual members of the senate which is greater, at times, than the veto power exercised by the president of the United States."

"He realizes," continued the vice president, "that these extra-constitutional powers which have been gradually built up and which, from time to time, he has exercised, are subversive of the principles of representative government."

His appeal to the people to support the move for a cloture reform was not "in a spirit of hostility," Mr. Dawes insisted.

"It is," he added, "to form and present an issue upon which a fair test of public opinion can be made. It is to the end that those who are the source of governmental power may express themselves upon a remedy in a lawful way."

Mr. Dawes opened his remarks with the announcement that the audience was "the best and most important" that he would be called upon to address during the rest of his administration.

"I don't know that my friend Senator Capper here," he continued, "is to regard that as an aspersion upon the senate because of the 12 1-2 minutes a year they allot to the vice president. In my young manhood, when I was contemplating matrimony, I don't think it may have been General Pershing—who said to me: 'Say anything you want to a woman, but don't put it on paper.' That is advice which I have not ever forgotten; and yet I have not always lived up to it. But I have found out in this matter of speaking that the rule is exactly the opposite, and that if you want to be safe, put it on paper."

"Of course, I realize that this makes a speech no good, but I want to say this to Senator Capper: That a man who has an unlimited time to speak whether he has anything to say or not and makes an extemporaneous speech very often that speech is no good. I mean down in Washington."

In introducing the vice president, Mr. Noyes referred to him as a man "who has a wonderful record of achievements." He recalled his work in France as the American purchasing agent, his reorganization of the budget bureau, his part in the reparations settlement, and his more recent advocacy of cloture reform.

"I have mentioned some of the conspicuous achievements of our guest of honor," continued Mr. Noyes, "but I may say to you that with all his well-earned glory, his chief attraction for me and, I am sure, to many of you personally know the man, is his radiant personality that has so gripped him to those of us who have been his friend for years."

MAYOR STANDS PAT IN PENSION FIGHT

Despite the fact that city council Monday overrode vetoes of bills providing payment of pensions to 47 former city employees, Mayor Walter A. Sims announced Tuesday that he will not sign checks for several of the pensioners.

"There are 10 or 12 pensioners whose applications have been disapproved by the city attorney," the mayor said, "and the city attorney has informed me that paying the money is illegal. For that reason, I do not intend to sign the checks, and will take the matter to the highest courts if necessary to sustain my stand."

"I will stand pat in my decision even in view of the fact that council twice has voted the pensions. I already have asked City Attorney Mayson for a written ruling to substantiate the oral one he gave me when I vetoed the bill."

Mayor Explains Stand.
"I think that if a man is able to earn a living, he should be taken off the pension list. Several of those who would receive pensions under the bill now are earning more money than they were when employed by the city. If they had suffered an injury which would incapacitate them from further work, it would be different, and I would be the first to advocate pensions, but that is not the case in the pensions disapproved by the city attorney."

The mayor said that the pensions which he intends to refuse to pay will approximate between $6,000 and $7,000 per year.

A court fight in the matter appears certain, in view of the mayor's announcement Tuesday. Council passed the measure two weeks ago after a long battle, and Monday overrode the mayor's disapproval by a vote of 16 to 4.

Similar Action Seen.
It is possible that Mayor Sims may take similar action on another paper vetoed, but vetoed by council notwithstanding.

standing the executive disapproval. The measure provides an appropriation of $150 to pay expenses of W. Zode Smith, general manager of waterworks, to a convention to be held at Louisville.

"The amount is entirely too much," the mayor said, "and I do not intend to pay it. I certainly will not sign a check for the full amount, and if the city attorney rules that the appropriation is illegal, I will not pay any of it."

New Athletic Field
At Henry Grady High Is Near Completion

BY BEN COTHMAN.

Work on the athletic field at the Henry W. Grady High school is being rushed to completion. Nearly all of the grading and filling, which is being done by the city and county, is completed. Work on the fence is being done by the students of the school, according to a statement given out by W. O. Cheney, principal of Tech High school, Tuesday. It is planned for all students taking shop-work to spend at least one full period working on the fence. The frame-work has already been put up and the students started nailing the boards Tuesday. The field is expected to be ready in a few weeks.

The military department at Tech High is planning a big field day about the middle of May in which every student who is not a member of the track team will be expected to take part. A great number of prizes will be given to those winning places in the meet. Complete plans will be announced later.

Twenty-seven thousand working hours are lost every day by traffic delays in London.

Rawlings' Appeal For Venue Change Denied by Court

The petition for a change of venue carried to the court of appeals by Charles G. Rawlings, Sandersville banker, indicted jointly with J. J. Tanner for the murder of G. A. Tanton, several months ago, was denied Tuesday by the court.

Rawlings sought a change in venue from Johnson county, where the killing occurred, to some other county in the circuit. His plea was presented to the court of appeals Monday by former Governor Thomas H. Hardwick, his attorney. The court ruled on the case in less than 24 hours after it was submitted, upholding in its decision the ruling previously made by Judge Earl Camp, of the Dublin circuit, denying the plea.

In its ruling the court of appeals held that the evidence submitted did not show that there is danger of mob violence to the accused man if he is tried in Johnson county. Judges Nash R. Proyles, Roscoe Luke and O. H. P. Bloodworth decided the case.

Negro Pastors Hear Address by Bishop On Church Needs

Bishop R. C. Ransom, of Nashville, addressing the A. M. E. preachers' weekly union in Big Bethel church, Tuesday, said among other things, "Our denomination with that of the Zion church in this country, must demonstrate to the country the ability of the negro to do the honorable, faithful and Godly things, that the best people of other races do. Our educational work is in fairly good condition and yet it may be regarded from the viewpoint of others as lagging for sufficient funds to carry it forward."

"We have no millionaires or very rich people in large numbers to endow our schools, therefore, we must accept the viewpoint of others for the kind and class of education we get by such training."

"Tennessee gives an eight-month school to the white and colored children of her state and that is making an advanced step in this section of our country."

"If the A. M. E. church is to take its rightful place for a trained ministry, capable teachers and prepared missionaries it must pay more attention in a businesslike way in collecting and expending funds to carry forward this great cause which will truly make better and elevate our people."

"The people of the white race are coming into their own because of the great, upright leaders, such as Bishop Chandler, who is the one man that is more frank and honest in his position on the union of the Methodist church north and the Methodist church south. 'Our race has and is now making wonderful progress when you recount the disadvantages under which we labor and the distance we have come. We are greatly in need of a strong, efficient ministry; we must have a home life worth while in which to rear our children. All of these things will come in proportion as we love and reverence God and follow His teachings."

"As I see it we have nothing to fear but ignorance and sin. I believe in the three kinds of education for all the people as has been said by others, 'the head, the heart and the hand.' Bishop Ransom has pastored in Boston, New York and Chicago for years, was educated at Wilberforce university. He was editor of the A. M. E. Review for eight years and was elevated to the bishopric at the last general conference. Bishops J. S. Flipper, of Georgia; W. A. Fountain, of Alabama; John H. Lewis, of Morris Brown; Dean W. G. Alexander, Presiding Elders H. D. Canady, J. A. Hadly, John Harmon, C. A. Winfield, J. H. McFarlin and Revs. H. Butler, R. H. Ward, Professor B. R. Holmes, Wilkerson and others were present."

GOVERNOR URGED TO ISSUE PARDON TO COBB BANKER

Governor Clifford Walker was urged Tuesday to follow recommendations of the state prison commission and pardon A. H. Gilbert, former head of a Marietta bank, who has served four years of a ten-year term imposed on him after conviction of embezzlement. A large delegation of Cobb county citizens appeared before the governor.

Among those who appeared before the governor were Judge Newt A. Morris, former State Senator Dick Dobbs, Representative Lindley W. Camp and Representative Head, of Cobb county and others.

MAYOR APPROVES INDUSTRY TAX CUT

A reduction from 52 1-2 to 35 per cent in the rate of assessment regarding equipment and stock of merchants and manufacturers, which was voted by city council Monday, was approved by Mayor Walter A. Sims Tuesday and will become effective on 1926 returns.

"I am in favor of anything that will reduce taxation," the mayor said. "While it appears that the reduction of the assessment rate will mean a slight increase in the revenue received, it will provide a substantial reduction in taxes of merchants who have made honest returns."

Councilman Ed H. Inman, author of the bill, explained that in addition to increasing the revenue, it will put all merchants on the same basis and will eliminate all possibility of tax evasion.

Your foundation though out of sight is safe if made with concrete

Home, factory, office structure—whatever the building, its life depends on its foundation. And for strength, permanence and economy builders generally have come to depend on concrete.

The foundation, though out of sight, is a vital part of the structure. And since it's worth while to build it permanently, it's worth while to insist on using Atlas Portland Cement.

Concrete has substance. The Panama Canal, the Gandy Bridge and many other mammoth structures have proved its strength and the reliability of Atlas.

Concrete has form. In the Louisiana State University and in other places it has shaped itself to unusual needs. And now concrete has color. By using naturally colored sand and stone with Atlas, either in its normal gray tone or pure white, any range of color can be secured, and such color is an integral part of the concrete.

The Atlas Mill at Leeds, Ala., and sales office in the Brown-Marx Building at 2000 First Avenue, Birmingham, Ala., afford unusual facilities for obtaining Atlas in the South.

COOLIDGE TURNS TO FOOTLIGHTS FOR AMUSEMENT

The President and Mrs. Coolidge occupied a box and were watched with curiosity by the audience. Both appeared to enjoy the show. A large crowd gathered at the front of the theater as they left.

Several nights ago the president saw his first vaudeville show in the five years he has been here, at Keith's theater, which Woodrow Wilson attended very frequently when president and more frequently afterward. Heretofore, Coolidge had gone to the theater very rarely and on those occasions had selected performances of a serious tone.

GOOD ROADS BODY OKAYS BOND PLAN

With but few minor revisions the bill drawn by a special committee of the Good Roads association, calling for a $70,000,000 bond issue, to be presented to the state legislature during the summer session, was approved Tuesday by the executive committee of the association at a meeting at the Ansley hotel.

C. C. Thomas, of Griffin, President of the association and member of the special committee, stated Tuesday that the bill, as adopted, would safeguard interests of Georgia citizens and insure 100 per cent returns on all money paid through gas taxation to the state highway commission. The principal section in the document calls for an annual issue of $10,000,000 in bonds, over a period of seven years, with a total of $70,000,000. The bill proposes the use of two cents of the three-cent gas tax for creation of a sinking fund and payment of interest on bonds. The bill also would create a bond commission to be appointed by the governor, composed of a representative from each of the state's twelve congressional districts, to supervise expenditure of the money.

The bill will not take funds from counties now receiving appropriations from the gas tax or from the allotment to the agricultural department. On the contrary it calls for a gradual increase in these two appropriations, as the incoming revenue may justify, proponents assert.

As the bill is a constitutional amendment it must go to the voters for final ratification, in every it is passed by the legislature.

A campaign committee of 33 members representing prominent citizens throughout the state, has been appointed by Mr. Thomas and will meet in Griffin at 10 o'clock Friday morning for the purpose of organization and the planning of a publicity campaign.

Dr. Shelton Speaks.

Dr. W. A. Shelton, of Emory university, will speak to members of the City club Thursday, at 12:30 o'clock, at the Piedmont hotel, on "The Meaning of the Recent Egyptian Excavations."

ARGUMENTS READY ON HOLDER OUSTER

Arguments will be submitted Wednesday or Thursday before the supreme court in the case appealed from the Bibb superior court involving the right of Governor Clifford Walker to remove John N. Holder, a chairman of the state highway commission.

When the case was first heard before Judge Malcolm D. Jones, of the Bibb superior court, demurrers were entered by both sides in the case, and the judge sustained these demurrers. Both sides then asked for an appeal to the supreme court to decide questions involved.

Attorneys for Chairman Holder demurred to the submission of a report of C. R. Dawson, special auditor, as evidence in the case, while attorneys for the highway board demurred to a mandamus brought by Chairman Holder to compel the members of the board to recognize him as chairman despite the governor's order. All legal questions in the case will be argued before the court Wednesday if the supreme court can reach the case that day and if not, will be argued Thursday.

The highway board, composed of Stanley S. Bennett, of Quitman, and W. T. Anderson, of Macon, is represented by Attorney Harry S. Strozier. Arguments for Mr. Holder will be submitted by Sam L. Olive, former Constant increase in business of the Merchants and Miners Transportation company has occasioned the placing of contracts for three new steamers, with the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company, at Newport News, Va., according to officials of the company. These new steamers will be similar to the "Alleghany" and "Berkshire," now in operation by this line, and will represent an expenditure of $3,350,000.

When these additional facilities are put into operation the Merchants and Miners will have a fleet of 20 ships, five of which are the finest on any coast, it is said.

This line is one of the oldest in operation on the Atlantic coast, having served the ports on this coast for 73 years. Passenger and freight lines are now being operated between Boston and Norfolk, Providence and Norfolk, Baltimore and Savannah and Jacksonville, Philadelphia and Savannah, Jacksonville and Miami.

GRAND OPERA STAR SINGS AT KIWANIS

The singing of Miss Louise Hunter, grand opera star, was the principal event of the Tuesday luncheon of the Kiwanis club at the Ansley hotel. She was introduced to members by Colonel William Lawson Peel, Robert Jones, Jr., president, presided.

Governor Hugh M. Dorsey and Marion M. Smith, his attorneys, were present.

COLEMAN TO RETURN TO BANK POSITION

Oliver Coleman, 23-year-old bank messenger, who, according to his own story, was slugged and robbed of $19,000 a week ago by two bandits who boarded his automobile at Marietta and Spring streets, will return to work this morning as bookkeeper and messenger of the Farmers & Traders bank, it was announced Tuesday night by officials of the institution. Coleman did not resume his position Tuesday because of the investigations of Fulton grand jury into the case.

"The grand jury still is considering evidence connected with the robbery but has not yet made known its findings," John A. Boykin, solicitor general of Fulton county, said. "We do not know when the case will be closed but it is certain that it will be given more attention by the jury."

That Indefinable Something.

You have known rooms which breathed a welcome. Rooms magnetic with the promise of repose. Rooms where nothing seemed conspicuous, but in which the whole plenishing blended in a harmony of abiding ease.

Then there are those other rooms. Money was lavished to furnish them, and they clamor about it. They seem to say "Behold, what luxury!" Whelmed with ill-chosen fittings, they affect you like a strident discord.

Furnishing suitably, appropriately, beautifully, requires more than money alone. It needs that indefinable something....

Ambitious furniture merchants spend years in mastering it. Analyzed, it is perhaps merely a clear eye for the right thing, a good sense of proportion, a sanity of the suitable. But it becomes something like a seventh sense.

Using it, botchery is averted. It warns against exuberance and bars mere extravagance. It forbids crowding some jewel-box of a house with things better befitting an archduke's hall of audience. Using it, you will not demean some stately room with furnishings which make it suggest a museum.

That indefinable something....

You find it freely at your service in any furniture house named here. When you employ it to collaborate with your own good taste, its adept technique will achieve very delightful results for you.

If you would realize how far a modest outlay will reach nowadays to fulfill your quest for a beautiful home, you must visit your city's good furniture show-rooms. This is published to invite such visits. It is not necessary that you have any immediate purchase in mind. Your welcome is sure without that.

IMPORTANT MOVEMENT.

The movement began in Atlanta Monday to conduct an educational revival throughout Georgia, with the determination that this state shall right-face-about in her present policy of starving her schools and institutions, is the most important organized group action that has recently taken place.

With George Foster Peabody, a native Georgian, philanthropist, and champion of education, as an inspiration, the many citizens who gathered with him demonstrated an enthusiasm for the task ahead that has not heretofore been shown. The result will be a veritable crusade, and at a time when Georgia stands on the edge of an educational crisis.

No man in the state is more familiar with the deplorable situation than C. Murphy Candler, who is chairman of the recently appointed commission to survey the state's educational and institutional needs.

At the meeting Monday, speaking for himself, and not officially for his commission, Mr. Candler said:

"I am already convinced of the calamitous conditions existing in public education. We have found half-starved institutions without equipment and with half-paid teachers, some of them with dormitories only for cattle to live in. If Georgia ever becomes what in the past she has claimed to be, she must spend money on the development of her human resources. The trouble is that Georgia has been holding out a bare crust to her institutions in the past, and twenty-five of them have fought for the division of the crust, instead of hand to hand and shoulder to shoulder trying together to build up a great system. The time has come when the whole state must demand that our common schools and all our institutions shall have the right to grow and fill their proper place in building our state."

There is an awakening in Georgia. The people are beginning to realize the truth. They are beginning to see by comparisons. The legislature this summer has a heavy task ahead of it—several heavy tasks, in fact. But the indications are it will meet, in a measure certainly, the demands for better provisions for our schools.

GETTING OUT THE VOTES.

The California League of Women Voters is the winner of the silver loving cup given by the National League of Women Voters to the league in the state which entered the national league's get-out-the-vote contest, and which had "the highest percentage of increase in the vote cast for president in 1924 over the vote cast in 1920."

Atlanta has a strong league and active officers, but Georgia, as a state, is sadly behind in getting out a vote—even in primaries.

In accordance with the rules governing the get-out-the-vote contest, two other state leagues, Texas and Rhode Island, were given honorable mention in recognition of an increase of 25 per cent or more in the vote cast in their respective states in 1924 over that cast in 1920.

Certified state figures upon which award of the cup was based, show that there was an actual increase of 8.33 in the 1924 vote over that of 1920. The league's official report also shows that only 50.92 per cent of the eligible voters assumed their franchise obligations in the last November election. In compiling the vote figures, the league's research secretary, Miss Helen M. Rocca, used only letters and official reports of the secretaries of state, and account was taken only of the vote cast for presidential candidates.

Of those states which may be listed as having "good voting habits," West Virginia leads with 76.99 per cent of its eligible voters recorded at its polls last November. Other states on this honor roll, with more than 50 per cent of the eligible voters voting are: Indiana, Utah, Wyoming, Rhode Island, Delaware, Iowa, New Hampshire, Illinois, Kansas, New Jersey, Nebraska, North Dakota, New Mexico, Minnesota, Kentucky, Colorado, Nevada, South Dakota, Idaho, New York, Missouri, Wisconsin, California, Connecticut, Oregon, Ohio, Massachusetts, Michigan, Montana, Washington and Vermont.

Thirty-one states had increases in the 1924 vote, while 17 states had decreases ranging from 27 of one per cent to 37.28 per cent. It is also interesting to note that of the 31 states recording at least 50 per cent of the eligible voters at the 1924 polls, 14 were west of the Mississippi and 17 in the northern and eastern sections of the country.

The question very naturally arises, where is Georgia? The fact is Georgians do not even reasonably exercise their voting franchises, even in primaries, and the result is keenly felt in the educational and material affairs of the state. We would have less politics and more business in government if the people would vote.

It is a solemn duty.

MISS BERRY HONORED.

Miss Martha Berry, principal of the Berry schools at Mount Berry, near Rome, has been awarded one of the Roosevelt Memorial association's 1925 medals for her outstanding services in the educational development of mountain boys and girls. The award was a most worthy one, and it further accentuates the appreciation of all of America for this noble Georgia woman who has done such great work in carrying the light of opportunity into cabin homes literally shrouded in ignorance and poverty.

The Roosevelt Memorial association awards the medals each year to those three Americans who, in the opinion of its committee, have performed especially noteworthy services. This year Governor Pinchot was recognized for his work for conservation, George Bird Grinnell, editor of Forest and Stream, for his promotion of outdoor life, and Miss Berry, for her welfare and educational work.

VANDERBILT ON ATLANTA.

The statement attributed to Cornelius Vanderbilt while the latter was an Atlanta visitor recently—that is, that Atlanta's outstanding progress and promise are due, in a large measure, to her industrial payrolls—is one that should not be lightly passed up or quickly forgotten. It is significant, because young Vanderbilt is not only an astute financier, but a newspaper man whose publishing interests are centered exclusively in the two play-ground states of America, California and Florida. He speaks from observation, experience and with the soundness of good judgment.

Although his newspapers are published in Los Angeles and Miami—across the continent from each other, but in cities with similar appeals, and perhaps with unparalleled records in population growths—he does not hesitate to say, and with emphasis, that climate and idle rich alone will not assure enduring prosperity. There must be industry—factory smokestacks and overalls, as well as kitchen chimneys and bathing suits.

The Miami Herald took the same view some months ago. It gave editorial expression to a strong appeal for permanent factories for Miami. And today Florida as a whole is turning attention to this one essential feature for her future prosperity.

In the meantime Atlanta's great duty is to push her industrial development. We are admittedly the south's cultural center, and the southeast's financial and commercial center. Let us make Atlanta the south's greatest industrial city. She is rapidly approaching that position now, but we must keep hammering at the job.

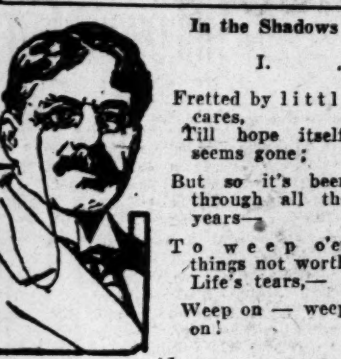

Cornelius Vanderbilt spoke wisely. He recognizes in Atlanta the real element that makes her great, for around ample productivity, all else may be shaped.

COOPER'S NEW JOB.

The directors of the Associated Press acted with wisdom and judgment in selecting Kent Cooper as general manager of that greatest of all news agencies. He joined the staff fifteen years ago by invitation of Melville E. Stone, then general manager. His assignments tested his ability both as an executive and a well-rounded newspaper man. His constant advancement came as rewards for genuine merit. He became a master, and is now in a position of the greatest possible service in a field that is world wide.

Just From Georgia

In the shadows Fretted by little cares, Till hope itself seems gone;
But so it's been through all the years—
To weep o'er things not worth life's tears—
Weep on—weep on!

Sad for the vanished light.

In shadows long and drear:
As if Day never knew the Night,
And nevermore would morning bright
Dawn on the Dark's despair!

That story, still retold.

With all its tears and sighs,
To hopeless heaven your hands you
With dross, where you might gather gold,
And joy of earth and skies!

Life in Mountain Town.

(As the Dahlonega Nugget Sees It.)
A lot of people complain at the high price of food, yet they never grunt at the high price of liquor.
And never fail having the money when they go to buy the latter, but have to wait when they eat on time.

We are told that one warrant has been issued for a party in this county having a half gallon of liquor in his house. Let the jury and officers who have not been guilty of the same offense cast the first stone.

In some of the women do the same way here with some. The men ride around here better jobs while the women stay at home and do the work.

Meat is retailing here now at 27 cents a pound. Some of the women have to buy it to take a little bite of meat and a big bite of bread when they sit down to the table—not a very large bite of bread, but a big one in the high order, where one biscuit in the center where it cannot be reached.

Trouble Town.

Folks that dwell in Trouble Town
Miss their time and chance;
If you can whistle trouble down
You'll find a host to dance!

You'll win the smile, forget the frown
Of folks that dwell in Trouble Town.

When the old world seems runnin' wrong,

Winter would smile like May
And joy himself would come along
If hearts would bid him stay.

In tears your cares you may not drown—
A smile makes light in Trouble Town.

Does the remarriage of a widow cancel her pension?

No. Government insurance is bought and paid for by the soldier, and payments are made to the widow

BIOGRAPHY

There is no story so full of all that life is as the life of a human being.

History has collected stories of men and women who led their separate lives.

When we read of bravery and the exhibition of fine strength by others we are in turn inspired. Though an action, each in turn, melt into the circle of time which softens every harsh edge of life.

If we couldn't learn that the virtues of life paid so well, then we would all too often fall into the cheap and worthless offerings of those who prey upon the virtue.

But biography explains, illumines and marks out paths that any one of us may profit from.

And where that man or woman has been a stirring figure in a troubled period, how interesting and helpful it will be to read of his or her every move.

Whether writer, statesman, reformer, or any other, there is there a same fascination for facts and incidents that crowd about that busy life. And there, there is the background ground for every thought or action.

For the part of that one who forms the kernel of the story.

I find my interest always increased after I have read the life of my favorite writer, artist or hero.

You have to know the source of an idea or thought before you can truly appreciate it.

When I learned of the long suffering and great courage of W. H. Hudson, the naturalist, I took new interest in his love of all beauty and of his tenderness toward the birds and animals of the earth. And in every story of his I see him—the life, the brave, the full of heart, the gentle giant!

In times of particular discouragement and gloom, hold a good biography and read it. And if you read between the lines, life is quite sure to soften much for you.

HUGE BOOK TO GIVE

HISTORY OF SOUTH

Baltimore, Md., April 21.—A book, claimed to be the largest in the world, is being built for exhibition purposes for the Southern exposition to be held in New York May 11 to 23.

The book, entitled "The Story of the South in the Building of the Republic," was written by Matthew Page Andrews, historian. The story consists of about 2,000 words. It will weigh more than 500 pounds and leaves will be turned by electricity.

After the exposition closes, the book will be exhibited in other cities.

WILLIAM ENGLISH WALLING, Intellectual Liberal and Socialist

(When President Coolidge advocated the withdrawing of the federal government from the field of inheritance taxation except in the time of emergency, he created an issue that will probably have a far-reaching effect in the 1926 congressional elections.
This editorial, well-known liberal, attacks the opposition of the progressives.)

President Coolidge says that the levelling of great fortunes by taxation, one of the declared objects of our greatest inheritance and income taxes, is socialism. The president wants the federal income tax repealed and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon wants the presence of the government in the taxation of great fortunes reduced.

Theodore Roosevelt was of the opposite opinion, holding that no legacy of more than a million dollars should be permitted—and the state of Oklahoma passed legislation to that effect.
But this is not a state question and inheritance taxes cannot be left exclusively to the states as the president proposes—unless we are to understand the right. For Florida will doubtless be followed by other states in doubling the tax on large inheritances.

Secretary Mellon contends that great incomes and large fortunes should not be discriminated against except under necessity—because he says, they furnish more than their proportionate part of the capital needed by the country. In a measure this may be true, but great fortunes and incomes also furnish more than their proportion of the wasteful, the luxurious, and the socially and politically corrupting, expenditure of the country. President Coolidge takes the millionaire's side of this question also and contends that great fortunes, on the whole, are wisely expended and worth more than their cost to the country. The owners of great fortunes, moreover, the president says he regards as indispensable in Washington for the most efficient administration of the government. There could be no more precise example of this principle than the presence of the owner of one of the very largest fortunes and one of the most powerful of all our corporations magnates as secretary of the treasury—a man who, in the financial circles of this country, represents the same position as Hindenburg in the military circles of Germany.

Here we have voiced by the president the doctrine which goes by the name of reaction throughout the entire world today. If swollen fortunes, to use the Rooseveltian expression, do not make for reaction then there is no such thing as a reaction. If there is no anti-democratic influence in the power of concentrated capital and the spending of huge incomes there is no anti-democratic influence.

In calling the heavy taxation of swollen fortunes for the purpose of reducing them socialism, President Coolidge shows the intensity of his conviction and his determination to stand for concentrated wealth.
He will not find the progressives of the country any less convinced or determined. They will not hesitate to call this an effort to turn the country back to the era before Roosevelt and Wilson by its right name—reaction. And if that name sticks it will go far to settle the question.

The issue is joined; there is little doubt that it will be a paramount issue of the 1926 congressional election.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

BIOLOGY BY PROFESSOR WILLIAMS.

Jess Feiring Williams, A. B., M.
D., professor of physical education,
Teachers' college, Columbia university, has written some of the best textbooks published, and his latest textbook, "Personal Hygiene," (Ginn Co., W. B. Saunders company), the second edition of which has just appeared, is intended for "courses in high schools, colleges and schools of nursing." I fear it will not attain immense popularity with such schools as Dr. Williams has a shocking habit of calling some of the most popular health teachings absurd, and worse still, he names names. Dr. Williams should read Ben Franklin's list of virtues, particularly the rule to forbear all direct contradiction. Franklin advised himself the pleasure of contradicting another abruptly or of showing the absurdity of his own proposition. Dr. Williams quotes the teaching of one G. S. Hall about the value of "breathing" and "exercise," and then, without explanation, he says absurd. Of course it is absurd, but as Franklin advised, one should use a thousand words to say just one word. Dr. Williams, by and large, is doing as well as can be expected in his text-book writing. Of course one does not expect the ideal of the attained in a text-book dealing with hygiene; the publishers have a good deal to say about what shall go into a text-book and what shall be left out, and the publishers have one good ear to the ground always. But I am naturally delighted to point out the flaw which mars an otherwise immense text-book, and naturally I find that flaw in the chapter about "Colds." What Dr. Williams teaches about the cause of colds is that colds are caused by bacteria, which at times attack the body in great force and cause marked disturbance, with tem-

KLAN CANDIDATE BEATEN IN HERRIN

Herrin, Ill., April 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—Marshall D. McCormick was elected mayor of Herrin today by 197 votes over Thomas Welty, regarded as the Ku Klux Klan candidate, in an election free from any violence. The 4,890 votes cast established a record.

McCormick carried three of the wards. He made the race on a platform standing for "strict enforcement of the laws" by regularly constituted authorities, without regard to race, color, religion or fraternal affiliations, declaring, "We believe the only way the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act can be enforced, is by strict enforcement of all laws."

McCormick was believed to have received the full anti-klan vote and the votes of a number of klansmen in his personal following. Welty received the remainder of the klan support.

The new mayor received congratulations of the Elks' club tonight. He said that he would try to serve all groups of people and that his administration would be free from favoritism.

No concerted demonstrations were permitted tonight and street gatherings were dispersed.

GRAY HAIR IS EASILY DARKENED

Tells How She Did It With a Home-Made Remedy.

Mrs. E. H. Boots, a well-known resident of Buchanan County, Ia., who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement: "Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray or faded hair, and look twenty years younger with this simple remedy, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbo Compound and 1-4 ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger." (adv.)

Scotti, as "Falstaff" Again Wins Hearts of Opera-Goers

"Falstaff," as presented Tuesday night at the auditorium, had everyone in a good humor, and the comedy was quite a relief after the dramatic suspense of "Gloconda." Most of the outstanding features of his work. It is the last opera of Verdi, written in his eightieth year, and is the very essence of fun. Instruments in the orchestra under the leadership of Serafin fairly chuckled at the ludicrous situations all through the opera. The main strength of "Falstaff" is in the instrumentation, and the Metropolitan company's splendid orchestra brought out the score in all its beauty.

The libretto, written by Boito, who also was the librettist for "Gloconda," is taken mainly from Shakespeare's "Merry Wives of Windsor" and some parts of "Henry IV." Most of the music for singers is declamatory in style. The beautiful sustained themes for which Verdi is famous are merely suggested and the comic atmosphere is immediately reestablished. It is noteworthy that Verdi should have left "Falstaff" as his last gift to the world, making such an inspired success of serious comedy probably the most difficult form of musical composition.

Tullio Serafin again thrilled his audience with his masterly interpretation of the score. Not only did he bring out the humor of the music but he held a masterly balance of the instruments, displaying much tonal color and rising to great climaxes during the performance. He impresses his hearers immediately with the sincerity of his work and has already made a wonderful impression in Atlanta.

Old Favorite Acclaimed. The plot of "Falstaff" centers around that worthy comical gentleman, which role was delightfully taken by Atlanta's favorite, favorites, Antonio Scotti. This being the initial performance of Falstaff in Atlanta, it was with great interest that we saw Scotti in the title role. It is impossible to express the high regard all opera lovers have for this versatile artist, who last night entertained us with his original interpretation of "Falstaff, the Fat," and later in the week will thrill his audience with his well-known dramatic impersonation of the sinister "Scarlatti" in "Tosca." Scotti, as "Fal-staff," dominated the stage all through the opera. His "Honor Monologue" in the first act and "Quand ero peggio" in the second act, were two of the outstanding features of his work. Lawrence Tibbett, American baritone, shared honors with Falstaff. The beauty of Mr. Tibbett's voice created no little comment last year when he sang "Valentine" in "Faust," but in the role of "Ford," especially in the second act, when he sang his monologue of jealousy, "E sogno," the great possibilities of his beautiful dramatic voice were realized. It is easy to understand why he received such an ovation in New York and his success was repeated last night.

The always popular Miss Bori scored again, this time in the role of "Mistress Ford." Her voice was as lovely as ever and she depicted this character in a most charming and animated manner. "Mistress Page" was well impersonated and sung by Miss Howard, while Miss Telva as "Dame Quickly" interpreted her role with no little humor, displaying her unusual vocal and histrionic abilities.

Aida Again at Best. Tokatyan as "Penton" gave us some beautiful singing in his sustained passages, noticeably in his love song in the last act. In the several love duets with Madame Aida, as "Anne," his voice blended delightfully with that of the well-known diva and gave excellent contrast to the main trend of the opera, which is written in a less sustained way. Most enjoyable of Madame Aida's work was her aria in the last act, sung with much ease and beauty of tone.

The parts of Falstaff's two rascals, taken by Palmirini and Didur, and "Dr. Caius," sung by Badi, were well done and added their part in making the comedy enjoyable. When we think of the difficulties of successfully producing grand opera in the comedy form, such as that of "Falstaff," we realize the achievement of the Metropolitan company. The entire cast seemed to be unusually enthusiastic, and to wholeheartedly enter into the spirit of fun. There was good acting as well as good singing, and the difficult ensemble parts were sung in a way that made them the crowning feature of the performance. We felt fortunate that we could see last night as well as hear, for the beautiful stage pictures of Jacques Urban, especially the Windsor Gardens, in the last act, supplied some very rare settings which greatly enhanced the beauty of the performance. The entire company is to be congratulated on giving such a splendid interpretation of "Falstaff," for without an unusual presentation, it is impossible to grasp the real beauty and greatness of Verdi's masterpiece of lyrical comedy.

HAVANA ENTERS MEET AT PENN

Philadelphia, April 21.—The University of Havana squad of athletes, seven in number, entered in next Saturday's Pennsylvania track meet, arrived today and worked out on Franklin field. The weather was cool and clear. Jose Barrientos, who holds the Cuban record for the 100 yards at 9.45 and the 220 yards at 21.15 will meet the fastest sprinters in the United States Friday and Saturday, and also A. E. Porritt, one of England's stars. Havana's relay team is entered in one of the one-mile college races.

NOTABLE STARS TRIUMPH IN "FALSTAFF"

er heights here, inspired by the contagious enthusiasm of all Atlanta during opera week.

Tibbett's Repeats. Lawrence Tibbett repeated in Atlanta the triumph he scored as "Ford" in New York. After his biggest personal opportunity in the first scene of Act II, he and Scotti and Telva took either 9 or 10 curtain calls and the audience tried its hardest to bring them back some more. And, while Scotti really deserved as much praise as any member of the cast, it was really Tibbett that the audience wished to honor above both the others. That is not because they didn't appreciate the really wonderful performance the entire cast gave, but there was a romance to the stories we have heard of Tibbett's suddenly acquired fame, and it tinged his performance with the aura of the unusual.

Fibbett deserves, too, every iota of the praise he won. For his voice is a baritone of beautiful richness and power and he achieves the utmost perfection in its use. But Scotti, grand old man of Atlanta opera, never before reached the heights he touched in his performance last night as the fat knight of the classic farce. The robust character is vividly reflected in the score given him to sing and the same robust individuality sounded through every note which came from his lips. Scotti can never grow old and each new role he adds to his repertoire but surprises his admirers anew. His reputation as the best character actor in the Metropolitan company was again verified as true.

Women Stars Praised. Among the women stars, Bori and Aida stood forth perhaps first, but Howard and Telva were barely second in their success. Telva, as "Dame Quickly," has a particularly effective role and she proved a revelation to many in the audience who had not realized before just how finished a singer she is and just how good a voice she possesses. And Kathleen Howard not only was vocally supreme as "Mistress Page," but a charming figure of a woman besides.

Lucresia Bori is the same entrancing, silver-throated soprano of yore. The ease with which she handled her difficult task last night could only have come from a singer with one voice in a million and the backing of perfect technique. In the third act, especially, she accomplished a performance remarkable in its delight.

Madame Aida as "Anne," had several lovely arias which she sang as only Aida can. Her duet in the second act with Armando Tokatyan, tenor, proved one of the most melodious numbers in the entire range of opera. No small part is played in "Falstaff" by the characters which for the sake of distinction are classed as "small parts." But in this work, every individual is entrusted with a part which requires the exact shading of the artist to make the complete picture perfect—and such was the talent they all received last night. Badi, Palmirini, Didur, gave portrayals both as singers and actors that were incomparable.

Ballet Is Beautiful. The ballet appeared only in the final scene, but their dance then was almost as beautiful as that supreme dance of Monday night. Almost, but of course, not quite, for there can't be two quite like that.

There also is but little chorus work in "Falstaff," though, of course, in what there was the Metropolitan chorus was a great asset.

Special reference must be made to the stage effects. Two scenes in particular, the garden scene in Act I, and the forest scene in Act III, were dreams of beauty. Tonight we are to hear "La Juive," with Florence Easton in the place of the still indisposed Ponselle, and with Martinelli, perhaps the greatest of all living tenors, in the role of "Elezar," made famous by Caruso. That the performance will be one of the greatest of the week is a probability that anyone can feel safe in making—for with Martinelli singing "Elezar," it could not be otherwise.

EASTON SINGS IN "LA JUIVE"

the throat specialist who is attending her stated that any attempt to sing until she is entirely recovered would endanger her voice for sometime. Realizing that Ponselle is as popular personally as she is as a singer, it was felt that no one in Atlanta would wish in any way to risk her marvelous voice by urging her to sing before it was perfectly safe for her to do so.

Florence Easton, who takes her place, is one of the principal sopranos with the Metropolitan company and is a finished artist in all her roles. Of course, the big role in "La Juive" is the tenor, sung tonight by Martinelli. Reports from New York state that the great Martinelli grew even greater by this production and he states himself that he never felt in better condition than at present.

So it seems certain that despite the absence of Ponselle Atlantans will enjoy one of the best productions of the week in Haley's great work tonight.

Frank B. Noyes Honored For 25 Years of Service As Associated Press Head

Clark Howell, C. H. Clark, E. H. Baker, S. H. Perry and J. R. Knowland Re-elected Directors.

New York, April 21.—In recognition of his 25 years' service as president of the Associated Press, or since the organization was founded in its present form, Frank B. Noyes, of The Washington Star, was honored at the annual meeting and luncheon today.

A gold bowl was presented to him in behalf of the entire membership. Men who have been associated with him in the administration as directors and officers gave him a "book of remembrance."

In presenting the bowl, Ralph H. Booth, of The Saginaw (Mich.) News-Courier, chairman of a committee selected by the annual meeting, referred to the Associated Press as the greatest mutual cooperative institution in the world, and continued:

"Too often the leader of a perfectly run institution may be lost sight of. The members asked me to express to you that we have not lost sight of the splendid service you have performed for them and your country. Instead of signifying only the silver anniversary, which signifies the past, we might pay tribute in suggesting the 25th anniversary that is to come. Therefore, instead of silver we have made it gold."

Victor F. Lawson, of The Chicago Daily News, was spokesman in presentation to Mr. Noyes of tributes from his administrative assistants. Mr. Lawson remarked that Mr. Noyes had served a great and righteous cause, the cause of truth in news, and served faithfully.

"It is my special privilege," continued Mr. Lawson, "to bring to you the more intimate appreciation of those who have shared with you, in lesser degree, the duties of this high trusteeship. In the words of old, a book of remembrance was written by all who remain unto this present of the many who have stood by your side through all these years of our common adventure in the service of a high and new ideal. When you read these tributes of the directors and the members of the executive staff of the association, Mr. President, read the unwritten, message of affectionate friendship."

Deeply moved, Mr. Noyes remarked that the tokens of his service in a solemn trusteeship had made him very happy and said that these evidences of friendship would be his most cherished possessions.

Melville Stone Speaks.
The annual meeting heard a possible valedictory from its first general manager, now its counselor, Melville E. Stone.

"I am an old man," he said, "it is not at all unlikely that this is the last time I shall have an opportunity to talk to you."

"I regard the Associated Press as a great public duty, and every public duty is a privilege. If it were not so, I should never have been of you. Incidentally, the Associated Press is an opportunity for you to make a difference. But if money-getting and public service may be joined hand in hand, as I think they have been in this institution, then you have been doubly blessed."

"This is a cooperative organization—the greater in the world. And esprit de corps is essential to success. Against great odds and by the exercise of infinite patience, we have built a great and most useful institution—one of incalculable value to the American theory of government. And I hope no one will challenge my firm conviction that our American theory of government is far and away the best ever devised by the sons of men. Not perfect, I grant you, but the best existing."

Five directors whose terms expired today were reelected for three years by acclamation, five other candidates withdrawing. The board of directors, which has 15 members, will meet in the Waldorf at 10:30 a. m., tomorrow for organization and election of officers. The directors reelected are Clark Howell, Atlanta, Ga., Constitution; Charles Hopkins Clark, Hartford, Conn.; Courant, Elbert H. Baker, Cleveland, Ohio, Plain Dealer; Stuart H. Perry, Adrian, Mich., Telegram and Times; J. R. Knowland, Oakland, Cal., Tribune.

The meeting gave formal approval to a resolution concerning radio broadcasting favored at a special meeting yesterday. Under this resolution the directors are authorized to permit restricted broadcasting of news of transcendent importance under safeguards.

The by-laws were clarified so that a paper may be published only in the city and under the name, title or heading mentioned in the certificate of incorporation.

It was decided that advisory boards should be elected hereafter by state associations of members, instead of by the annual meeting.

Committees Elected.
Auditing Committee—Eastern division, E. E. Smith, secretary, Meriden, Conn.; southern division, James M. Thomson, chairman, New Orleans, La.; item, central division, W. Y. Morgan, Hutchinson, Kan.; western division, William C. Denning, Cheyenne, Wyo., State Tribune-State Leader.

Nominating Committee—Eastern division, Ogden M. Reid, secretary, New York Tribune; New York Herald; Edward Flicker, Bridgeport, Conn.; Telegram; southern division, John S. Cohen, Atlanta, Ga., Journal; H. C. Adler, chairman, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Times; central division, P. S. McGlynn, Moline, Ill., Dispatch; A. L. Miller, Battle Creek, Mich., Equator and News; western division, Frank S. Baker, Tacoma, Wash., Daily Ledger; Jay O. Hayes, San Jose, Cal., Mercury-Herald.

Accuracy and Speed.
The matter of accuracy and speed in news was discussed by two speakers. Mr. Noyes, after pointing out that the Associated Press aims to give the facts and the facts only, aroused considerable interest by comparison of Associated Press dispatches on several subjects with those emanating from other news sources. The facts spoke for themselves when compared with what Mr. Noyes called "interpretive embroidery."

C. F. J. Mooney, of the Memphis Commercial Appeal, gave the results of his investigation of forty claims by another news service of beating rivals in important news. Mr. Mooney said that 25 of the claims he had found to be absolutely untrue because The Associated Press was ahead, and the other incidents the claims were either falling short or the news matter was not of such paramount importance as what The Associated Press was transmitting over its circuits at the time.

Monologue Features
Cooperative Club Meeting on Tuesday
A monologue by Oscar J. Coe, manager of the United Motors Service, Inc., featured the program of the regular weekly meeting Tuesday of the cooperative club at the Piedmont hotel. The program was in charge of H. G. Granger, and Arch Elkin presided.

Plans were discussed for the "charter party" to be held at the first Monday in May, at which time the local club will be host to the national officers of the Kansas City, Mo., and members of the Memphis and Birmingham clubs. At this meeting the local club will officially receive its charter. Plans also were discussed in favor of sending a representative to the annual convention of Cooperative clubs to be held in Tulsa, Oklahoma, May 18-22.

Making Attractive Homes
Is Slogan of Merchants

Making homes real places to live rather than mere houses to enter when there are no other places to go, is the slogan of a campaign being conducted by the furniture and house furnishing of Atlanta, through the Calvin Stanford Advertising agency.

One of the most important features of the campaign is the handling of the problem of making homes so attractive that the younger set today will not want to leave for other attractions.

Members of the furniture group of the Atlanta Retail Merchants' association, who are sponsoring the campaign, have placed the drive on a platform of broad educational principles.

There are 21 of the principal furniture houses cooperating, as follows: M. Rich & Brothers company, Carroll Furniture company, Jones-Kennedy Furniture company, Home Art Supply company, Myers-Miller Furniture company, Charles S. Robison Furniture company, Satterwhite Furniture company, Duffee-Freeman Furniture company, Ed Matthews & Co., Empire Furniture company, Swift Furniture company, Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose company, Haverly Furniture company, Ed and Al Matthews Furniture company, Sterchi Furniture and Carpet company, Cochran Furniture company, Rhodes-Wood Furniture company, Mason Brothers, Mathier Brothers, Abbott Furniture company, J. M. High company.

The campaign will run for six months, during which time every angle of home furnishing will be handled through large newspaper advertisements showing how homes can be beautified economically, in an effort to arouse much deeper active interest in the making of homes.

Improvements produced by modern inventions and skill will be used to show just how they can be made to aid in the making of attractive homes—homes people will love to live in. By careful selection of furniture it is possible to model a home that holds the interest—one the family regrets leaving for a little while—and Atlantans will be shown by furniture dealers just how this type of home can be acquired.

Slogan Suggested.
The slogan, "Have you a little fairy in your home?" might easily be changed to "Have you that real home atmosphere in your home?" or something similar for this campaign. The campaign will deal with that particular angle of the housewife who struggles through her work to an unlovely old age, when she can so easily remove the drabness from her workshop by falling in line with the campaign and utilizing the modern equipment provided by scientists and inventors for her comfort and easy work.

A table compiled by investigators shows how little is spent to make homes attractive, as follows: For every dollar spent for home furnishings in the United States, $3.25 is spent for automobiles, $1.75 for confections, $1.70 for tobacco, $4 for clothes, and $1.15 for motion pictures.

JUST CAN'T BE BEAT FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

Taylor's Blood Medicine contains Iodine of Potash and other vegetable ingredients, such as Sarasaparilla, Dandelion, Gentian, Wintergreen and Sassafras, which act as a fine tonic to the stomach, while the Iodine of Potash absorbed by the blood destroys the poisonous acids which lead to rheumatism and paralysis. Get a bottle of Taylor's Blood Medicine today from your druggist. It will stop those headaches, backaches, pains in the fingers, arms and shoulders, hips and knees. It will bring back your appetite and make you gain weight if you are thin and pale. Taylor's Blood Medicine is purely vegetable, pleasant to take, will tone up your stomach and make you feel fine.

Price $1.00 a bottle, and if you are not satisfied it helped you, after taking three bottles, which should last you about thirty days, return the bottles to your druggist and get your money back.—(adv.)

JUST CAN'T BE BEAT FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY
Mr. J. W. Rice, Azalea, N. C., Took Taylor's Blood Medicine Himself And Gave It To His Family. He Says It Just Can't Be Beaten As a Family Tonic, And He Is Glad To Recommend It. He Says It Always Stops Those Rheumatic Pains, Brings Back His Appetite And Makes Him Feel Fine.

Taylor's Blood Medicine contains Iodine of Potash and other vegetable ingredients, such as Sarasaparilla, Dandelion, Gentian, Wintergreen and Sassafras, which act as a fine tonic to the stomach, while the Iodine of Potash absorbed by the blood destroys the poisonous acids which lead to rheumatism and paralysis. Get a bottle of Taylor's Blood Medicine today from your druggist. It will stop those headaches, backaches, pains in the fingers, arms and shoulders, hips and knees. It will bring back your appetite and make you gain weight if you are thin and pale. Taylor's Blood Medicine is purely vegetable, pleasant to take, will tone up your stomach and make you feel fine.

Price $1.00 a bottle, and if you are not satisfied it helped you, after taking three bottles, which should last you about thirty days, return the bottles to your druggist and get your money back.—(adv.)

GEORGIA MELON CROP IS GROWING "NICELY"

Thomasville, Ga., April 21.—(Special.)—Watermelon growers in this and adjacent territory report their crops as looking well and growing nicely. The fact that the Florida crop is reported as being well advanced and certain to be ready before the crop of south Georgia is good news to the growers, as it means that the two crops will not run together as is sometimes the case.

It was thought at the beginning of the season that the acreage in melons would be rather small this year, but it seems about as large as usual.

George and Walker Will Speak at Meet Slated at Camilla

Springfield, Ga., April 20.—Local authorities are holding an unknown man, either a Filipino or Japanese, following a complaint made by a little schoolgirl, who told Sheriff Ford the man tied to kiss her Wednesday afternoon. The incident happened on the public highway. He was caught shortly afterwards. The foreigner speaks no English. He is believed to be off a ship in Savannah. The child was not harmed. A hearing for the prisoner will take place this week.

Warlike Motives Suspected In Maneuvers of U.S. Fleet By English Naval Experts

Weakness of Defenses in Hawaii Expected To Be Shown—Gesture Is Laid To "Big Navy Men."

London, April 21.—Warlike motives ranging from a desire to prove that the United States must have more cruisers, to a rehearsal of an offensive war in the East, are ascribed by British naval experts to the American fleet maneuvers which will culminate this week in an attack on Hawaii.

Naval men all over the world are endeavoring to follow the moves of the modern armada which is carrying the American flag "somewhere on the Pacific" with various colored pushpins. British admiralty officials are plotting the probable tactics of the grand fleet upon which the interest of naval men is concentrated. While interest and opinions regarding the significance of the American naval gesture vary according to the prejudices of the observers, British naval men are extremely interested because their fleet is the sole match for that of the United States.

Three Opinions Advanced.

Three opinions as to the real meaning of the mock American war are advanced here. They are:

1. The United States is taking the lead in keeping the Pacific safe for the white race.

2. The maneuvers are a rehearsal of a possible offensive war in the event of trouble in the Far East.

3. Big navy men in the United States planned the maneuvers to demonstrate the weakness of Hawaiian defenses in order to compel congress to give the navy more cruisers. Superiority to the British fleet would result if the latter strategy should succeed.

The first suggestion summarizes the opinion of that considerable British group, which is convinced Britain would be forced to side with the United States in any Far Eastern war. Else this group argues, the empire would lose New Zealand and Australia who, feeling themselves deserted by Britain, would align themselves with the United States.

Those Britishers who cannot forget Britain's decades of close friendship with Far Eastern nations, offer the second suggestion, and argue that there is no menace to Britain, nor to the United States, in the Far East. Hawaii, they say, is never likely to be so weak defensively as for the purpose of the present maneuvers.

British Skeptical. The attacking fleet is about equal to the entire strength of the Far Eastern navy, it is pointed out, and there is speculation whether, in the event of trouble, the United States would take the offensive to seize a portion of some Far Eastern nation.

The big navy men in Britain, who are similar to American big navy advocates, suggest the third interpretation of the American maneuvers. These Britishers recall the American cruiser agitation after the 1924 maneuvers near the Panama canal when, they say, Britain obviously was the attacking power contemplated by the Americans.

They hint that the Hawaiian maneuvers with the presumably collapse of the island defenses, would be used to back up the American naval board's report recommending more cruisers.

AUSTRALIAN RADIO SIGNALS ARE HEARD

Washington, April 21.—What was believed to be a world's record for two-way radio telegraph communication was established today between the naval research and experimental laboratory here and Sydney, Australia.

The communication was on a 20-meter wave length and was described as excellent with the signals strong at both ends. The station in Australia was "2-N," that of an amateur.

GREAT DIRIGIBLE OFF TO BERMUDA

Lakehurst, N. J., April 21.—Carrying the largest personnel in her history, the dirigible Los Angeles left this afternoon for Bermuda with prospects of a fair flight throughout the journey. She is expected to reach the islands before dawn tomorrow.

Besides the regular crew of 28 men, there were aboard a number of extra army and naval officers as observers. Eight sacks of mail also were carried. More than fifty men, seven more than were ever carried before by the dirigible, were aboard.

If the dirigible reaches Bermuda before dawn, as is expected, she will pause about several hours before launching the mooring mast of the U. S. S. Patoka. Weather reports from Bermuda were favorable.

Captain George W. Steele was in command and Commander Jacob H. Klein, was executive officer. After a stay of several hours in Bermuda, during which the mooring mast on the Patoka will be tested thoroughly, while official government calls are made by the dirigible officers and the observers, the Los Angeles will leave before sunset. She is expected to return to her hangar here early Thursday.

JUNIOR GUILD PLANS INITIAL PLAY SOON

Members of the recently-organized junior division of the Atlanta Theater guild are prepared to present their first playlet, entitled "Alice in Wonderland," and rehearsals will begin immediately, according to Mrs. Preston Wilhoit, director.

The date of presentation of the play has not been set and preliminary tryouts will be necessary before the cast can be announced. More than 25 girls in the city have applied to play the lead part of "Alice" in the play, and elimination will begin immediately for the purpose of selecting the best of these applicants to take the lead role, Mrs. Wilhoit states.

The selection of members of the cast including the lead part will be made at a meeting of the guild May 2, and from that time on rehearsals will be carried on in earnest. It is expected that from 25 to 30 children will participate in the production.

"THIN GRAY" LINE BECOMES THINNER, RECORDS SHOW

Out of 11,258 pensioners on the rolls in Georgia more than one-half are widows of Confederate veterans and there are now less than 5,000 veterans in the state drawing pensions, it was announced Tuesday at the office when lists for 1925 were compiled. There are 940 widows in Fulton county who will receive approximately $94,000 this year. Fulton county leads the state in the number of pensioners.

Gossip In Hotel Lobbies

BY PAUL STEVENSON

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

Lobbies of downtown hotels are crowded with visitors from all parts of the south who have come here to enjoy grand opera, and many brilliant social affairs are being arranged at the hotels for these guests. While much of the gayety centers at the Biltmore, where most of the opera stars are quartered, the other hotels have large quotas of opera guests.

At the Henry Grady hotel is a group of girls from a leading conservatory in South Carolina. Several groups of college girls are at the Ansley. Two large parties from Tennessee are at the Robert Fulton hotel, while the Cecil, Winecoff and Piedmont have big lists of opera guests.

At the Ansley, six southern states were represented in the guest list, these being Georgia, Florida, Alabama, South Carolina, North Carolina and Mississippi. At the Piedmont are guests from Kentucky and Louisiana in addition to some of the other southern states.

ATLANTA LEADS IN ACTOR FUND.

Atlanta's response to the call of the National Vaudeville artists last week was liberal, and it is indicated that this city again will lead the south in its contributions to this fund, according to Lionel H. Keene, of New York, assistant to E. A. Schiller, general representative of Marcus Loew, Inc.

Mr. Keene passed through Atlanta on his way to Birmingham, where he will be present when the magnificent new Loew theater, the Temple, is opened next week. Mr. Keene formerly lived in Atlanta and met many of his old friends here on his brief visit.

CONKLIN SEES AUGUSTA EXPANSION.

George Conklin, of Augusta, one of the executives of the Augusta-Aiken railway company, is at the Robert Fulton hotel.

"We are looking forward to big industrial expansion in Augusta since we have become linked up with the north Georgia power developments of the Georgia Railway and Power company," he said. "The new transmission line is now being constructed, and as a result, it will assure our industries of a steady flow of electric power for all purposes, which will be a big asset to our city."

Central Christians In Midst of Series Of Revival Services

Revival services at Central Christian church, corner of Washington and Fair streets, under leadership of Rev. J. S. Raum, are attracting wide interest and resulting in many additions to the church, according to church officials.

Rev. Raum is widely known as an evangelist minister and has experienced marked success in that field, it is said. Singing is conducted by Miss J. S. Raum.

Junia Sells and E. B. Clark, with special musical features marking each service.

NEGRO GETS SENTENCE FOR PISTOL ASSAULT

Kelly Dandy, 39, negro, Tuesday was sentenced to from five to eight years on the Fulton county chain gang on a charge of assault with intent to murder, growing out of an alleged shooting at J. D. Howard with a pistol. Judge G. H. Howard, of Fulton superior court, passed sentence shortly after the jury returned a verdict in the case.

John Hudson, assistant solicitor general, prosecuted for the state. Charges of shooting at another and a misdemeanor count still stand against the defendant.

Mrs. M. A. Hambrick was fined $50 and given a six months' suspended sentence on charges of operating a disorderly house.

Judge Howard's is the only criminal court in the county trying cases this week. All courts are slated to take a week's adjournment next week.

Macon, Ga., April 21.—(Special.)—A farewell dinner was given to Lincoln McConnell, scout executive, who has been elevated to the position of regional field executive, the event also serving as a welcome to Millard Westcott, of Montgomery, Ala., the new executive.

The event was attended by a number of visitors who are prominent in Boy Scout activities.

COUNTERFEIT SUSPECT IS JAILED IN ORLEANS

New Orleans, April 21.—Frank Jackson, 25, was arrested here by federal authorities in connection with an alleged plot to unload counterfeit coins at a local amusement park, in which Jackson was said to have used a 14-year-old boy to dispose of the coins.

Detectives who arrested Jackson reported that the prisoner volunteered, after being taken into custody, to show his "plant" for making spurious quarters and half dollars, and is said to have led the officers to a house in which a number of moulds used in making counterfeit coins were seized.

Vincent Boone, the boy, told police he was taken in by Jackson after running away from home and then compelled to act as a tool in passing bogus coins at the park where he was employed.

Warlike Motives Suspected In Maneuvers of U. S. Fleet By English Naval Experts

Weakness of Defenses in Hawaii Expected To Be Shown—Gesture Is Laid
To "Big Navy Men."

London, April 21.—Warlike motives ranging from a desire to prove that the United States must have more cruisers, to a rehearsal of an offensive war in the East, are ascribed by British naval experts to the American fleet maneuvers which will culminate this week in an attack on Hawaii.

Naval men all over the world are endeavoring to follow the moves of the modern armada which is carrying the American flag "somewhere on the Pacific" with various-colored push-pins. British admiralty officials are plotting the probable tactics of the grand fleet upon which the interest of naval men is concentrated. While interest and opinions regarding the significance of the American naval gesture vary according to the prejudices of the observers, British naval men are extremely interested because their fleet is the sole match for that of the United States.

Three opinions as to the real meaning of the mock American war are advanced here. They are:

1. The United States is taking the lead in keeping the Pacific safe for the white race.

2. The maneuvers are a rehearsal of a possible offensive war in the event of trouble in the Far East.

3. Big navy men in the United States planned the maneuvers to demonstrate the weakness of Hawaiian defenses in order to compel congress to give the navy more cruisers. Superiority to the British fleet would result if the latter strategy should succeed.

The first suggestion summarizes the opinion of that considerable British group, which is convinced Britain would be forced to side with the United States in any Far Eastern war. Else, this group argues, the empire would lose New Zealand and Australia who, feeling themselves deserted by Britain, would align themselves with the United States.

Those Britishers who cannot forget Britain's decades of close friendship with Far Eastern nations, offer the second suggestion, and argue that there is no menace to Britain, nor to the United States, in the Far East, Hawaii, they say, is never likely to be so weak defensively as to be the purpose of the present maneuvers.

British Skeptical.

The attacking fleet is about equal to the entire strength of the Far Eastern navies, it is pointed out, and there is speculation whether, in the event of trouble, the United States would take the offensive to seize a portion of some Far Eastern nation.

Big navy men in Britain, who are similar to American big navy advocates, suggest the third interpretation of the American maneuvers. These Britishers recall the American cruiser agitation after the 1924 maneuvers near the Panama canal when, they say, Britain obviously was the attacking power contemplated by the Americans.

They hint that the Hawaiian maneuvers with the presumable collapse of the island defenses, would be used to back up the American naval board's report recommending more cruisers.

AUSTRALIAN RADIO SIGNALS ARE HEARD

Washington, April 21.—What was believed to be a world's record for two-way radio telegraph communication was established today between the naval research and experimental laboratory here and Sydney, Australia.

The communication was on a 20-meter wave length and was described as excellent with the signals strong at both ends. The station in Australia was "2-PN," that of an amateur.

GREAT DIRIGIBLE OFF TO BERMUDA

Lakehurst, N. J., April 21.—Carrying the largest personnel in her history, the dirigible Los Angeles left this afternoon for Bermuda with prospects of a fair flight throughout the journey. She is expected to reach the islands before dawn tomorrow.

Besides the regular crew of 28 men, there were aboard a number of extra army and naval officers as observers. Eight sacks of mail also were carried.

More than fifty men, seven more than were ever carried before by the dirigible, were aboard.

If the dirigible reaches Bermuda before dawn, as is expected, she will cruise about several hours before launching to the mooring mast of the U. S. S. Patoka. Weather reports from Bermuda were favorable.

Captain George W. Steele was in command and Commander Jacob H. Klein, was executive officer. After a stay of several hours in Bermuda, during which the mooring mast on the Patoka will be tested thoroughly, while official government calls are made by the dirigible officers and the observers, the Los Angeles will leave before sunset. She is expected to return to her hangar here early Thursday.

JUNIOR GUILD PLANS INITIAL PLAY SOON

Members of the recently-organized Junior division of the Atlanta Theater guild are prepared to present their first playlet, entitled "Alice in Wonderland," and rehearsals will begin immediately, according to Mrs. Preston Wilhoit, director.

The date of presentation of the play has not been set and preliminary tryouts will be necessary before the cast can be announced.

More than 25 girls in the city have applied to play the lead part of "Alice" in the play, and elimination will begin immediately for the purpose of selecting the best of these applicants to take the lead role, Mrs. Wilhoit states.

The selection of members of the cast including the lead part will be made at a meeting of the guild May 2, and from that time on rehearsals will be carried on in earnest.

It is expected that from 25 to 30 children will participate in the production.

"THIN GRAY" LINE BECOMES THINNER, RECORDS SHOW

Out of 11,258 pensioners on the rolls in Georgia more than one-half are widows of Confederate veterans and there are now less than 5,000 veterans in the state drawing pensions, it was announced Tuesday at the office when lists for 1925 were compiled. There are 940 pensioners in Fulton county who will receive approximately $34,000 this year. Fulton county leads the state in the number of pensioners.

Gossip In Hotel Lobbies

BY PAUL STEVENSON

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

Lobbies of downtown hotels are crowded with visitors from all parts of the south who have come here to enjoy grand opera, and many brilliant social affairs are being arranged at the hotel. These guests last night were much of the gayety centers at the Biltmore, where most of the opera stars are quartered, the other hotels have large lists of opera guests.

At the Henry Grady hotel is a group of girls from a leading conservatory in South Carolina. Several groups of college girls are at the Ansley. Two large parties from Tennessee are at the Robert Fulton hotel, while the Cecil, Winona and Piedmont have big lists of opera guests.

At the Ansley, six southern states were represented in the guest list. These being Georgia, Florida, Alabama, South Carolina, North Carolina and Mississippi. At the Piedmont are guests from Kentucky and Louisiana in addition to some of the other southern states.

ATLANTA LEADS IN ACTOR FUND.

Atlanta's response to the call of the National Vaudeville artists last night was liberal, and it is indicated that this city again will lead the south in its contributions to this fund, according to Lionel H. Keene, of New York, assistant to E. A. Schiller, general representative of Marcus Loew, Inc.

Mr. Keene passed through Atlanta on his way to Birmingham, where he will be present when the magnificent new Loew theater, the Temple, is opened next week. Mr. Keene formerly lived in Atlanta and met many of his old friends here on his brief visit.

CONKLIN SEES AUGUSTA EXPANSION.

George Conklin, of Augusta, one of the executives of the Augusta-Aiken railway company, is at the Robert Fulton hotel.

"We are looking forward to big industrial expansion in Augusta since we have become linked up with the north Georgia power system," he said. "The Georgia Railway and Power company," he said. "The new transmission line is now being constructed, and as soon as it is finished, it will assure our industries of a steady flow of electric power for all purposes, which will be a big asset to our city."

NEGRO GETS SENTENCE FOR PISTOL ASSAULT

Kelly Dandy, 39, negro, Tuesday was sentenced to from five to eight years on the Fulton county chain gang on a charge of assault with intent to murder, growing out of an alleged shooting at J. D. Howard with a pistol. Judge G. H. Howard, of Fulton superior court, passed sentence shortly after the jury returned a verdict in the case.

John Hudson, assistant solicitor general, prosecuted for the state. Charges of shooting at another and a misdemeanor count still stand against the defendant.

Mrs. M. A. Hambrick was fined $50 and given a six months' suspended sentence on charges of operating a disorderly house.

Judge Howard's is the only criminal court in the county trying cases this week. All courts are slated to take a week's adjournment next week.

COUNTERFEIT SUSPECT IS JAILED IN ORLEANS

New Orleans, April 21.—Frank Jackson, 72, was arrested here by federal authorities in connection with an alleged plot to unload counterfeit coins at a local amusement park, in which Jackson is said by police to have used a 14-year-old boy to dispose of the coins.

Detectives who arrested Jackson reported that the prisoner volunteered, after being taken into custody, to show his "plant" for making spurious quarters and half dollars, and is said to have led the officers to a house in which a number of moulds used in making counterfeit coins were seized.

Vincent Boone, the boy, told police he was taken by Jackson after running away from a home and then compelled to act as a tool in passing bogus coins at the park where he was employed.

There are 25 veterans and 22 widows in Stewart and the total amount received for them was $4,700.

The apple industry in north Georgia is thriving; weather conditions this spring have been good, and the quality of the fruit will be unusually high this year, according to H. H. Wimpee, Atlanta newspaper man, who returned Tuesday from a visit to the apple regions.

The producers look for one of the biggest crops in the history of the industry and are particularly pleased over prospects for high quality in the fruit," he said.

The Atlanta Association of Fire Insurance Agents

FOR many years, this organization has been a contributing factor in the progress of Atlanta and the Southeast, and as a unit has taken an important part in every civic movement for the city's good.

The services of its individual members has extended, helpfully, into practically every business in Atlanta.

It is now the purpose of this association to outline, in a series of announcements, of which this is the first, the vital position which the regularly licensed and commissioned Fire Insurance Agent occupies in modern business.

The ever-widening scope of the service, both protective and preventive, which the present-day Insurance Agency offers to its clients is a most interesting development to those who are familiar with it. To those who are not, we will endeavor to acquaint them with the fact:

That it is both profitable and pleasant to take your Fire Insurance problems to men who have made a life study of their profession and are sincere in their desire to serve the insured's best interest.

York. Each character in the play is distinctly human, each is an individual with a purpose. There are no lay figures. Lewis Willoughby, Madame Petrova's leading man, is well known both as a director and actor, and was associated for some time with the Granville productions in England and Australia. Soths for the engagement are now on sale at the Atlanta theater box office and at the "Ask Mr. Foster" service at M. Rich & Bros. Co. store.

"Manhandled."
(At the Lyric)

The contrast between real love with poverty and the chase of good love accompanied by lavish spending is portrayed this week at the Lyric theater in "Manhandled," one of the strongest and most appealing vehicles yet provided for the Lyric Players. The story is concerned with the life of a vivid and interesting little shop girl known as Tessie McGuire, who longs for the bright lights of Broadway and the mad whirl of gaiety which she has been denied.

Myers and Hanford.
(At Loew's Grand.)

Two able and resourceful comedians who produce a lot of original fun are "Pee Wee" Myers and Ford Hanford, who are pleasing big crowds with their act at Loew's Grand this week, where they are headliners. The big two-sterling entertainers head the big special bill, which was sent south to open the new Loew's Temple theater in Birmingham next week.

Other star entertainers on the bill are the Des Lys Sisters & Co., six beautiful and talented girls who are a variety of amusement; Hazel Crosby, noted American prima donna in a circle of new songs; Gari and Baldi, in "Chausseur and the Maid," and the Three Londons, comedy ensing act.

The Loew feature picture for the week is "The Great Divide."

Keith's Forsyth.
(Keith's Forsyth)

Melody and bright patter are the particular forte of the team of Eddie Schwartz and Julia Clifford, Broadway musical comedy stars, who are appearing as the headlining attraction of this week.

In addition, the Forsyth presents a special added attraction "Sugarfoot" Gaffney, famous minstrel star, assisted by Tex Hentrix, former Atlanta boy. These two put over laughs in rapid fire order and their songs are of the minstrel type that never fail to please. Rosemary and Marjorie offer "Heart Songs" and Miss Happy Harmon, in "Comedy Animal Circus." Al Libby and company are comedy cyclists and conclude the program in a dazzling and daring exhibition.

Gloria Swanson.
(At the Howard)

Gloria Swanson, in the great French classic, is pleasing thousands of Atlantans and their guests who are here for the first time. Gloria Swanson's name will take its place beside the famous "Sans Gene's" of history.

The production was screened in Paris with the cooperation of the French government and of the ministry of fine arts. The celebrated French director, Leonore Perre, produced it, and many of the leading French stage celebrities appear in it. The Hollywood Guatemalan Miramba band is making a big hit with the Howard audiences. The Miramba is the only one of its kind in the world today.

"Playing With Souls."
(At the Metropolitan)

Prior to starting work in "Playing With Souls," Clive Brook, the noted English actor, had never met Jacqueline Logan. Five minutes later, in front of a grinding camera, Jacqueline, in a short, daring gown, was sitting on Brook's lap, tickling his ear with a wine glass.

"Playing With Souls" is the current offering at the Metropolitan theater.

"The Roughneck."
(At the Rialto)

No astute author will admit knowing all the intricacies of love as it obtains among the human beings on this mundane sphere. Robert W. Service is one of the most modest of men and he refrains from laying claims to any unusual comprehension of the gentle passion.

However, as reviewers point out, he has displayed a remarkable insight into some angles of love in his new novel, "The Roughneck," which is now a feature picture at the Rialto.

THOMASVILLE PREPARES FOR ROSE SHOW FRIDAY

Thomasville, Ga., April 21.—(Special.)—Thomasville is busy getting ready for the annual Rose show, which will be held on Friday, from 2 to 10 p. m. It will be held in the new basketball court on the grounds of the Eastside school.

The court is such a large one that it can easily accommodate the large crowd and is arranged to show off the flowers to the best advantage. Reports from different sections indicate that there will be many more visitors here and Thomasville hopes to be able to show them what this section is doing and can do in the way of growing beautiful flowers.

The list of prizes this year is quite large and the entries to compete for them bid fair to be larger than ever before.

THOMASVILLE VOTES AGAINST UNIFICATION

Thomasville, Ga., April 21.—(Special.)—At the meeting held at the Methodist church Sunday for the purpose of voting on the proposed unification of the northern and southern Methodist churches, the vote was largely against unification, being 103 against and 33 for unification.

The whole vote was comparatively small, as the Thomasville church is the second largest in the South Georgia conference.

FORT VALLEY SCHOOL WINNERS TO VIDALIA

Fort Valley, Ga., April 21.—(Special.)—A large number of Fort Valley people will go to Vidalia Thursday to the high school district meet. Fifteen boys and girls will represent Fort Valley High school in literary, expression, declamation, music and athletic events.

Miss Miriam Edwards won first place in reading here in the preliminary contest and is also the valedictorian of her class.

Wesley Green made second honor and will make the salutatory address at the graduation exercises.

Miss Marjorie Brown, a member of the graduation class, won first place in piano and will represent Fort Valley in the department of music at Vidalia.

Famous Marine Paintings Being Exhibited This Week

While Atlanta art lovers are satisfying their appetite in the realm of music at grand opera this week a display of silent art of unusual attractiveness is being displayed at the store of the Chamberlain-Johnson-Du-are being exhibited. The exhibit opened Tuesday and will continue for two weeks.

Mr. Calusd, whose paintings hang in the white house at Washington, the Romanian palace and in many art centers, are accepted by many art critics as without a peer in the realm of marine painting.

He was awarded the diploma of honor by the Bulgarian government in 1890 for his exhibit of paintings displayed at that time, and has been officially recognized by many other governments for his artistic ability.

Charles D. Sigbee, former rear admiral, U. S. N., once said of Calusd's canvases, "Your paintings exhibit that which is rare in marine paintings—both aspect and sentiment of the sea, and the drawing and balance an artist may depict the heave and weight of waves and correct skies but to make obvious the blinding and relentless fury of the sea, as you have in your works, is a rare accomplishment."

Endless columns of commendatory criticisms have been written by critics in more than a score of countries and each agrees in the statement that as a portrayal of marine life and beauty Calusd stands alone.

His famous painting, entitled "Welcome," which now hangs in the white house at Washington, was purchased by the late Woodrow Wilson and shows the skyline of New York from the harbor. The Statue of Liberty in the foreground depicts the "welcome" from which the canvas takes its name.

Among paintings of note included in the collection being displayed at Chamberlain-Johnson-DuRose, is an inspiring canvas entitled, "The Eternal Watch," wherein the anger of a crossed sea is portrayed by a great magic brush.

This picture is the figure of Jesus Christ, as the "Watcher." This painting was inspired by a storm through which the ship on which Mr. Calusd was a passenger, passed. His inspiration came after the ship was saved from the wrath of the storm by the intervention of Divine Providence, he said.

Another canvas of note which is the exhibit here is "The Castles of Wealth." This painting shows the skyline of New York with the "castles of wealth" towering over the harbor.

Other notable paintings which are among the number on display here are "The Sea's Anger," "Love of Moonlight," "Fair Weather," "Harbor View" (Rio de Janeiro), "Natures Majesty" (Niagara Falls).

OF 370 VOTES CAST, 201 FAVOR MERGER

Vote in Favor of Unification

Emory University, Ga., April 21.—(Special.)—Unification of the northern and southern Methodist churches is the proposed plan by the students of Emory university in a vote taken on the campus announced today.

The total result was: 291 votes for the present plan, 72 votes for unification by some other plan, and 97 votes against it in any form. The total number of votes cast, 370, is thought to be enough to show the general trend of opinion of Emory students.

The students in the school of the older, who have studied the question much more thoroughly than those of any other school in the university voted almost unanimously for the present plan. Out of the 71 students in school, 61 favored it, while four favored some other plan and six opposed unification.

Every one of the foreign students who voted was in favor of the present plan. Ballots were cast by representatives of China, Brazil, Korea, Japan and Poland.

The vote was taken by means of polls stationed in a number of buildings, and by ballots passed out in chapel. Every man was required to sign his ballot in order to have it counted, and non-committal votes were thrown out.

Rider Begins 10,000-Mile Trip
JOURNEY TO TEST ENDURANCE OF CRIOLLO

To U. S. on Argentine Horse

Buenos Aires, April 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—An attempt to make a ten thousand mile horseback ride from Buenos Aires to New York to test the endurance of the criollo, or native Argentine horse, began today.

H. F. Schifferle, a schoolmaster and former football player, left here on the first stretch of a ride that will take him, if all goes well, across Bolivia, Peru and Ecuador into Central America and through Mexico to San Francisco. He proposes then to ride across the United States.

Schifferle will use two horses which were bred on the ranch of Emilio Solanet, vice governor of the province of Buenos Aires. He expects the journey to take about six months.

Another sporting event to test the stamina of criollo horses encountered difficulties today. The nine-hundred mile race between Criollo and thoroughbred horses, which began last Wednesday, was suspended when one of the criollo horses was injured by stepping on a broken bottle.

The race, which was expected to last about a month, has been conducted on a 20-mile course on a ranch near here.

AUTOS MENACE NATION, ROAD DELEGATES TOLD

Houston, Texas, April 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—James E. Ferguson, former governor of Texas, plainly told the United States good roads delegates here today that "the time has come to change the plan of road building" and "not build them to meet the demand of the automobile but build them from the farm to the mill."

He unilaterally opposed, he said, to issuing "40-year bonds to build 4-year roads" and he added that "the time is coming when a gasoline tax in Texas will be instituted as the only fair and equitable means of building and maintaining highways."

He questioned if the automobile itself was not becoming a menace to the nation. In Texas alone, he said, 700,000 automobiles which cost originally $500,000,000, required $325,000,000 annually for replacements, repairs and supplies which suggested to him that thousands of persons were mortgaging their chances of a home for the possession of an automobile.

He unilaterally opposed, he said, to bond issues for road building.

"We ought to be careful," he declared, "and not enslave our people."

CELEBRATION RECALLS RUN INTO OKLAHOMA

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—Two generations of Oklahomans, those who settled the first Indian lands thrown open to homesteading in 1889 and those who have helped build here a thriving, populous country, united here today in a two-day celebration for the 36th anniversary of the "run" into the "Oklahoma country."

It was at noon on April 22, 1889, that a horde of more than 100,000 persons, at the call of cavalry carbines, swept into an area in the central part of what is now Oklahoma and before nightfall laid the foundation of a great commonwealth.

Men and women who "made the run" shared honors with the new generation of Oklahomans in the celebration.

Many of the original vehicles used in the memorable rush for homes appeared today, while men and women, aged 36, stood on the 80s sat on the hard board seats.

The opening of the "Oklahoma country" was one of the most thrilling events in the history of American expansion.

After years of delay, Congress passed a bill March 2, 1889, permitting settlement in a portion of the unassigned Indian lands about what is now Oklahoma City. President Benjamin Harrison ordered that the territory be opened to permit the area until noon on April 22, when all would be given an equal start.

The United States army established a rigid patrol along the border of the land to be opened and troops met every train that topped within the territory, refusing to permit any but a few persuasive newspapermen to alight.

Within a month after the president's proclamation there grew up around the frontier of the promised land of a little more than 10,000 square miles, a city of tents housing a strange array of men, women and children, waiting for the hour to strike when they would be permitted to rush in and lay claim to home sites.

April 22 dawned on an army of pioneers crowding a line patrolled by cavalrymen, sole mark of authority in the wild country. As noon approached, the commander, watch in hand, counted off the seconds. The hands on the dial came together, a bugle sounded and a rattle of carbines swept around the huge circle. With a roar the great crowd surged in.

That night fully 50,000 persons claimed homes in the new land. Today the area has 373,000 inhabitants and has an assessed valuation of $307,241,235.

A feature of the celebration tomorrow will be a second "run" for those who participated in the original opening. Starting from a downtown location they will dash for an outlying section, where several city lots will be given to those who claim them first. Only automobiles and airplanes are barred in the 1925 "run."

FORT VALLEY WOMEN TO ATTEND INSTITUTE

Fort Valley, Ga., April 21.—(Special.)—A large delegation of Fort Valley women of the Baptist Women's Missionary society, will attend the missionary institute of the Rebirth association, which will be held at the First Baptist church in Macon, Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Several of the leading state workers from the state board will conduct study classes.

THE RAILROADS ARE NOT MAKING A LOT OF MONEY

Figures taken from the records of the Interstate Commerce Commission show that, treating the Class-1 railroads as a whole, the rate of return (percentage of net railway operating income to property investment) for the four years ending with 1924 was 3.92 percent.

The average return earned by the carriers in the four years ending with 1909 was 5.42 percent. In the four years ending with 1913 it was 4.92 percent, and in the four years ending with 1917 it was 4.74 percent.

How many industries or private businesses show such a record of diminishing rate of return on property investments? Does such a statement (compiled by a Government bureau) indicate that existing railroad rates are too high? During the year 1924, the rate of return for the country as a whole was but 4.35 percent, and yet a record for efficient transportation and satisfaction to the shipping and traveling public was established by this and other great trunk lines.

Such records are made possible only by the most careful operation and management. Do you appreciate the fact that the United States enjoys the finest transportation service in all the world, at lower cost than is enjoyed in any other country?

For the good of your community, of the Nation, and of general business conditions, it is well to keep this fact in mind.

Coolidge Course Over Ship Sale Still in Doubt

Washington, April 21.—Concern for administration of shipping board affairs prompted the recent letter of inquiry by President Coolidge to Chairman O'Connor, of the board, with respect to the position of the commissioner, who opposed the sale to the Dollar interests of the five vessels in the California-Orient line.

This, rather than the sale itself, was disclosed today as the important factor in the president's mind, but the question whether he contemplated any action as a result of the wide split in the board which developed over the sale remained in doubt tonight. Reports that resignations might be called for or proffered without confirmation as did suggestions that some reorganization of the board's functions might be looked for.

President Coolidge made his inquiry of Chairman O'Connor when it appeared possible the minority members might appear before the court in the injunction proceedings initiated by the Pacific Mail Steamship company to halt the ship sale, and by filing answers and appearance of counsel be in the position of opposing the government.

The letter was received after Commissioner Plummer had left for court to submit affidavits of himself and Commissioner Thompson stating their position in opposing the sale. Chairman O'Connor replied to the inquiry and at least one of the dissenting commissioners is understood to have written the president. The minority claimed the right to file affidavits on the ground that the suit was brought against the several commissioners and pointed out that all except one had filed affidavits.

African Natives Urged To Ignore Wales' Visit After Many Are Shot

Johannesburg, South Africa, April 21.—The Prince of Wales' visit to South Africa will be ignored by the natives if they follow the advice of a native congress in session here.

The natives decided to issue a proclamation urging all blacks to boycott Wales, owing to the action of the Blomfontein police, who shot a group of natives Monday, when they refused to disperse. The congress' decision will influence some natives, but it probably will not affect the general population.

A native boycott would mean that the thousands of welcoming shouts, which have greeted Wales so far on his journey, would be conspicuously absent when he reached the southern extremity of the continent.

Miss Lucille Parker Weds Franklin Bell At Constantinople

Constantinople, April 21.—Miss Lucille Parker, of Birmingham, Ala., secretary of the American high commissioner, Admiral Bristol, was married to Franklin W. Bell, of Raleigh, N. C., a director of the Gary Tobacco company, today in the American embassy here.

The wedding was one of the biggest social events of the season, the entire American colony of 300, all the foreign ambassadors and consuls and many officials attending. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Nita Parker, who came all the way from Birmingham for the event, and was given away by Admiral Bristol. Curtis Gary was the best man.

The bride has been connected with the American embassy in Turkey for some years. She speaks six foreign languages. Mr. Bell is one of the most prominent American experts in the near east. Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for a six weeks' honeymoon among the islands of Greece.

MASULINE FASHIONS NOW RAGE IN PARIS

Paris, April 21.—"Gentlemanly" fashions in the feminine dress for morning wear in town are seen everywhere in the Paris streets. The strict tailor-made, the slim top coat with a neat stock of a colored "comforter" showing above is much in evidence. Neck ties of all kinds are worn with high-necked blouses.

The hats used with these ensembles are dome-shaped with curled brims. They are of felt or straw, with trimmings of ribbons, feathers, or a buckle or brooch.

65 RAILS TO FIGHT FREIGHT-RATE CUTS

Washington, April 21.—Using the recent failure of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul as a horrible example, 65 western railroads, owning more than half of the mileage of the United States, have begun their fight against lower freight rates before the interstate commerce commission. Every important road west of the Mississippi has joined in the protest.

Last January congress ordered the commission to inquire what

SUPPER-DANCE DRAWS THROG AFTER OPERA

Scotti, Old Favorite Here, Receives Hearty Welcome

The pleasurable expectation of a critical Atlanta audience was entirely satisfied with the interpretation of "Falstaff" as given Tuesday evening by the Metropolitan Opera company. This last work of the great Italian master, Verdi, with its one long, merry tune rather coincided with the gay, light-hearted spirit of a second night opera gathering, the gracious folly and fantasy of the masterpiece being reflected by the enthusiastic welcome and appreciation with which it was received.

The story of this work, the revival of which in the Metropolitan repertoire was designed especially for the glory of that old favorite, Antonio Scotti, is a clever condensation of Shakespeare's "Merry Wives of Windsor," in which "All the world's a farce," as borne out by the blithe, sunny mood of the opera.

Tibbitt's Triumph.

Scotti, in the title role, again shared honors with the youthful American baritone, Lawrence Tibbitt, as he did on that sensational evening of the first performance of the season in New York, when the Metropolitan audience demanded that a pause be made while they rejoiced that a new star had arisen. Taking the part of Ford in last night's cast, his magnetic and authoritative performance held the audience completely captive and by reason of the fact that he is an all-American product, American born and American trained, Atlanta took a patriotic pride in proclaiming the triumph of this young westerner.

Scotti, without whom an opera season in Atlanta is incomplete, has always ranked among the favorites of music-lovers, having won an eminent position in southern hearts by reason of his magnetic personality, which also proves an asset before the footlights.

Lovely Lucrezia Bori

Admirably supported in feminine roles by such celebrated voices as possessed by lovely Lucrezia Bori, Frances Alda and Kathleen Howard, the production of "Falstaff" could not fail to please. The familiarity of the charming story, the sparkling eloquence of the orchestra, the witty dialogues, the superb conducting of Tullio Serafin, all in addition to the appeal of master voices made the opera one of the most enjoyable of the week's program, as witnessed by its enthusiastic reception.

The incidental dances by the celebrated corps de ballet of the Metropolitan company were an added feature of brilliance and interest, introducing entr'acts a charming group of artistic interpretations.

Beautiful Women.

Charming and beautiful were the costumes of the handsome Atlanta women, the numerous visitors and the sprinkling of opera stars throughout the audience. A trio of magnificently gowned women occupying the front S. Ellis box and including Mrs. Ellis and her guests, Mrs. Norman Dike and Mrs. Willard Brown, of New York, formed a colorful and lovely picture. Mrs. Ellis, whose costumes are always a symphony of taste and elegance, was gowned in white satin, fashioned simply along straight lines. Mrs. Dike wore silver brocade metal cloth fashionably draped. Mrs. Brown's costume was of Madame blue crepe heavily brocade in silver metal threads and caught with handsome jeweled ornaments.

'CUE AT DRUID HILLS FEATURES TODAY'S SOCIAL PROGRAM

Feast Ready for Stars In Woodland Setting

Social gaieties revolve around opera visitors, brides-elect and the annual barbecue staged by the Druid Hills club on Wednesday. The barbecue, far-famed in the history of entertainments given in Atlanta featuring visiting celebrities and the stars of the Metropolitan Opera company, is possibly one of the most enjoyable occasions because of its delightful and spontaneous informality and the beauty of its woodland setting.

The grounds surrounding the Druid Hills Golf club provide an ideally picturesque background for the guests wearing the prettiest of sport costumes. The old-fashioned barbecue will be served under the spreading stately trees, with the long tables placed in attractive arrangement and the glorious sunshine adding its golden glow to the scene.

The officers of the club will act as hosts and will receive the celebrities. Dr. Thomas P. Hinman, popular president of the club, and his charming wife, Mrs. Hinman, will act as official hosts.

The other hosts include Mr. and Mrs. Lowry Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Davis and C. R. Gaines.

Wednesday is crowded with social affairs from early morning until the "wee small" hours of Thursday. Miss Coleman Weds Mr. Starr At Lovely Afternoon Ceremony

A marriage characterized by beauty and simplicity was that of Miss Addie Cureton Coleman and Richard Howard Starr, which was solemnized Tuesday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman LaFayette Coleman on East North avenue.

Dr. Wallace Rogers, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, performed the beautiful, impressive ceremony in the presence of an assemblage limited to family connections and intimate friends.

The home was transformed into a bower of springlike loveliness. The ceremony was performed in the living room before an improvised altar. The altar was flanked on each side by banks of handsome palms and ferns and in the foreground stood cathedral heart roses showered with orchid sweetpeas.

The little flower girl was Emma Snow Fincher, cousin of the groom, in a dainty frock of pink chiffon trimmed with cream lace. On her left shoulder she wore a shower of pastel shaded ribbons. She carried a miniature bouquet of pink and lavender sweetpeas. Julian Starr was his brother's best man.

The bride was a picture of radiant loveliness in an afternoon gown of pale gray Elizabeth crepe fashioned over orchid satin. The skirt was banded with exquisite lace and caught on each side with orchid hand-made roses. She wore a medium poke of orchid neapolitan straw and carried a shower bouquet of orchids and valley lilies.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held. Mrs. Norman Coleman, mother of the bride, wore an afternoon toilette of mellow-colored chiffon, heavily headed in amber and green. She wore a shoulder boquet of lavender sweetpeas and valley lilies.

Mrs. Dan Starr, mother of the groom, was becomingly gowned in rust-colored crepe. Her corsage was of lavender sweetpeas. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman LaFayette Coleman, and a sister of Miss Jane Coleman, and Newman Coleman, Jr. She is a direct descendant of the Calhoun, Hamilton and Cureton families of South Carolina and the Robinson and Coleman families of Virginia, who have been prominently identified in the history of the two states.

Mr. Starr is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Starr, and a brother of Julian Starr. He is affiliated with the Fourth National bank and was a former president of the Fourth National Bank club.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Starr left for a motor trip through North Carolina, after which they will be at home with the groom's parents.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Brighter Gift.
Paint the gift frames carefully with white of egg, using a camel's hair brush. It will renovate them beautifully.

Keep the Lid On.
Stews and pot roasts should be simmered with the lid on the pot as to keep the steam in. The action of the steam is almost as important as that of the hot liquid which cooks the meat and vegetables.

Have Them Dyed.
When the colored satin slippers become smudged with polish from men's shoes during the dance and are generally hopeless, take them back to the shop where they were purchased and have them dyed a darker shade to match some other less delicate frock.

Just My Age

My aids to youth, which made the difference, are at your command
By Edna Wallace Hopper

The lady whose photograph I print with mine is about my age. But I had the advantage of scientific aids.

From early girlhood I have searched the world to get them. I spent in all nine years in France. Those helps made me a famous beauty. Now, at this lady's age, I retain my contours, my complexion. My hair is as fine and colorful as 40 years ago. I look like a girl, and live and play a girlish part today.

Now I offer those same helps to all who wish to use them. Toilet counters everywhere supply them. And any girl or woman who asks me will receive a free trial. They form, I believe, the greatest beauty aids in existence.

My Youth Cream

Is a remarkable creation, combining many factors. It contains products of both lemon and strawberry. Also the best helps science gave me to foster and protect the skin.

It comes in two types—cold cream and vanishing. I use it as a night cream, also daytime as a powder base. Never is my skin without it. My velvet complexion shows what that cream can do. The cost is 60c per jar. Also in 35c tubes.

My Facial Youth

Is a liquid cleanser I owe to France. Great beauty experts the world over now advise this formula, but their price is too high for most women.

It contains no animal, no vegetable fat. The skin cannot absorb it. So it cleans to the depths, then departs. My Facial Youth will bring you new conceptions of what a clean skin means. The cost is 75c.

White Youth Clay

Is a new-type clay, white, refined and dainty. Vastly different from the crude and muddy clays so many have employed.

It purges the skin of all that clogs and mars it. Removes the causes of blackheads and blemishes. Brings a rosy afterglow which amazes and delights. Combats lines and wrinkles; reduces enlarged pores.

No girl or woman can afford to omit it. It multiplies beauty. White Youth Clay costs 50c to $1.

My Hair Youth

The cause of my luxuriant hair, thick and silky, finer far than 40 years ago. I have never had falling hair, dandruff or a touch of gray. A concentrated product combining many ingredients. I apply it with an eyedropper directly to the scalp to tone and stimulate. No man or woman will omit it when they see what Hair Youth does. The cost is 50c and $1 with eyedropper.

My Face Powders

They are supreme creations. No face powders you have used can compare. Mine are exquisite. They come in two types. One a heavy, clinging, cold cream powder, in square box, $1. I like that best. The other is light and fluffy, in round box, 50c.

All toilet counters supply my beauty helps. Send the coupon and I will mail you a sample of any one you choose. Also my Beauty Book.

BLACK-DRAUGHT OCTOGENARIAN

Ohio Man, Now 80, and His 54-Year-Old Son, Tell How They Found Relief from Disorders of the Liver.

West Union, Ohio.—"I have used Black-Draught for about fifteen years for indigestion, torpid liver and constipation, and can say it is one of the very best liver tonics I have ever found," says Mr. James McClelland, who has lived here for four score years.

"When I have a headache," he says, "I feel stupid, dizzy and tired. I know it is my liver, so I take a good dose of Black-Draught and it sets me right."

"I am 80 years old now, and naturally get bilious quicker than when I was more active. Consequently I keep Black-Draught and use it."

Mr. McClelland's son, Mr. H. C. McClelland, who is 54, residing on his farm here, says: "I keep Black-Draught in my house just like I keep groceries. It is a good remedy. I use it for indigestion, liver trouble, headache, colds and trouble that comes from a disordered liver."

"If a neighbor feels bad and asks me what to take, I usually tell him Black-Draught for I'm a believer in its merits."

For indigestion, biliousness and constipation, due to a torpid liver needing laxative or cathartic stimulation, take Black-Draught.

The Love Cycle

BY MILDRED BARBOUR

CONCERNING THE ACTION AND

The Marlowes and Weston to force an accounting in his dealings with his dead partner. But his tangible evidence found as strong. The result is narrated between the Marlowes and the Westons.

THE FIRST MAN

Several months after the dropping of the Marlowe Weston case, Mrs. Marlowe and Jane disappeared from their familiar world. But he paid much more attention to the face and figure of each ambitious young typist than to the neat samples of her copy which she submitted. His wandering gaze finally rested upon Jane, who, in the beginners' class, was not even under consideration. A little flushed and tired, she labored over a machine in a corner.

"How about the girl over there, the one with the chestnut hair?" he suggested to the manager. "She looks neat and intelligent—just what we are looking for at the office." "Oh, she wouldn't do at all," the manager protested, "she is only a beginner."

"Let's see some of her work," Haynes strode across the floor, coolly plucked the sheet of paper out of Jane's machine and looked it over calmly.

"Lose a job?" he asked, looking down into her amazed eyes. "I—I am not qualified yet," she stammered.

"Umm—no, I guess not," he conceded, "but when you have improved a bit, suppose you drop around to see me, here is my card."

He looked over the candidates presented for his inspection by the eager flattered manager who saw in his future possibilities for placing her graduate pupils.

"I simply could not remain in the same town with Edward Weston," she declared. "It would keep bitter-ness alive in my heart and that is bad for anyone. I hate him, not so much because he robbed my husband who was his best friend, but because he tried to smother his memory and that he has deprived my daughter of her rightful heritage."

Mrs. Mansfield sighed sympathetically. She was genuinely sorry for Mrs. Marlowe and her kindly heart overlooked the occasion, many years before, when the latter had caused her the keenest humiliation by offering her charity in the guise of a cast-off gown.

"I can understand, my dear," she said gently, "but you must understand that I cannot take sides. Remember that my son is Weston's son-in-law and nothing must occur to throw discord into his married life."

"Helen and Hal are happy, then?" Mrs. Marlowe inquired a bit resentfully.

"I think so," Mrs. Mansfield spoke confidently, but there was a little shadow in her eyes which bespoke doubt and anxiety. "Helen is a very sweet girl, but of course, she has been spoiled. However, there is another baby coming soon."

Mrs. Marlowe recalled that conversation years later and marvelled anew at the kindness of her old friend whom she had treated so shabbily in the past.

As it turned out, the Marlowes did not travel very far. They went to New York, where Mrs. Marlowe had some distant relatives and took a small place far uptown, where they could live on the small income they had. Jane clung to her determination to study something useful in case of actual need, but her mother refused flatly.

Four career is marriage and it would spoil all your chances to make a good match if you became a working girl. I have an idea we can manage somehow."

Outwardly, Jane obeyed her, but she saved a little of the spending money her mother gave her from time to time and took a course in typewriting. She chose for her lessons the hours in the afternoon when her mother was invariably walking in the park, looking with envious eyes at the smart equipages which rolled past, or rambling through the shops, sighing wistfully over the luxurious garments she could no longer afford to buy. In this manner, Jane's absences were not noted and the girl herself enjoyed a little feeling of satisfaction over the fact that there would be something to turn to if the worst came to the worst.

It was at the typewriting school that she first met Ellis Haynes. He had been sent by his office to look over a little group of advanced pupils with the idea of engaging one or two for some simple copying.

The appearance caused a flutter. He was extremely good to look at, with that air of worldliness, verging on dissipation which attracts women so keenly. He had handsome eyes, which were boldly appraising of feminine charms and his dress and bear-

He's a wonderful man, is Billy. SCOTT WELCOMES COOL WEATHER.

There was one person in Atlanta who welcomed the sudden cold which descended on the city Tuesday morning. It was Antonio Scotti.

"If they'll keep the steam heat out of the auditorium and the cold wind keeps up through Tuesday night, I expect to sing the role of 'Falstaff' in comparative comfort," he said Tuesday afternoon.

"This weather was made for Falstaff," he concluded.

Madame Frances Alda, whose soprano voice has a greatness all its own—in other words, whose voice is a voice of individuality—appeared for her afternoon walk dressed entirely in white, with one single exception. White hat, white furs, white dress, white coat, white hose, white shoes. And a tiny puff of a golden brown dog, a little bigger than a small rat, giving the only touch of color to the ensemble.

Interest at the Biltmore centered all day Tuesday on the suite occupied by Rosa Ponselle, the laryngitis-stricken soprano. As far as could be discovered, however, no one penetrated within the confines of the suite except possibly Mr. Ziegler, assistant general manager of the company, and the doctor. Mr. Ziegler reported an improvement.

But everyone else was met at the outer door by Miss Ponselle's secretary and all kind messages were gratefully received by her.

The favorite spot for most of the stars Monday was the inner court and garden at the Biltmore. Tuesday it was too cold for many of them, who kept to their rooms. But there were half a dozen impromptu dinner parties in the big dining room and many others were away all day vacationing with their Atlanta friends.

IGNORANT OF CHANGE TILL PAPERS APPEARED.
A certain man-about-town met a friend on Peachtree Tuesday morning.

"Did you hear 'Gloconda' last night?" asked the M. A. T. "Yes," said the friend. "Did you?" "Not last night," replied M. A. T. "I've heard it before. It's a tragedy."

Which, in view of the general trend of operatic plots, didn't prove much for the M. A. T.'s familiarity with opera.

And speaking of familiarity with the local attainments of the various stars, two excellent young friends sat all through "Gloconda" and didn't know they hadn't heard Ponselle until they picked up The Constitution Tuesday morning. They were too far from the stage to hear Mr. Bidwell's announcement before the first curtain.

Operantic Notes

BY RALPH T. JONES.

Louise Hunter, beautiful little soprano of the Metropolitan company, is in trouble. She has lost her music. Just where the particular piece of baggage containing the star's portable opera library went astray is unknown, but vain search has already been made at the Terminal station and throughout the hotel.

Inasmuch as music is an important part of a singer's equipment, anyone who comes across a grip full of soprano music is begged to bring it quickly to the Biltmore. Of course, it would probably be of no use to the finder, for it must be remembered that to be worth anything music must find a voice.

Queen Mario hurried across the hotel lobby after Billy Guard, publicity man and general straightener of troubles for the opera company. Just what she wanted no one knew, and it isn't polite to eavesdrop. But it was noticed that she was all worry before she found him. When she had grasped his arm she poured a torrent of words into his attentive ear. Then he patted her hand, murmured a few soothing sentences into her shell-pink ear. The lady smiled; all was well, and she tripped contentedly out for a morning constitutional.

Story of Tonight's Opera

"La Juive"

The story of "La Juive" or "The Jewess" is laid in the city of Constance in 1414, when the Jews were subject to terrible persecutions. The first act shows the public square, with a church at the right and the goldsmith shop of Eleazar, the Jew, at the left. A holiday in honor of a victory is announced, but Eleazar, a mystic, distrusts, discovers Eleazar violating the law by working. The angered mob is about to throw the old Jew and his daughter, Rachel, into the lake, when Cardinal Brogni appears and saves them. Eleazar reminds the cardinal of their old friendship in Rome before the Jew was banished from that city, and when the cardinal's wife and daughter were lost when Rome was pillaged. The cardinal leaves.

Again the mob is about to attack the Jews, when Prince Leopold, who is in love with Rachel, enters and quiets them. Leopold is married to Princess Eudoxie, Rachel's friend, and does not know him in his own character, calls him Samuel, and thinks he is a Jew. She, therefore, invites him to her father's house, for it is the Feast of the Passover.

Act two takes place in Eleazar's home. Leopold is present but is unknown to the other friends there. But Rachel sees him throw away the unleavened bread when it is passed to him, and her suspicions are aroused. Suddenly Princess Eudoxie enters and Leopold hides his features. She wishes to purchase a jewel as a gift for her husband, and Eleazar promises to deliver it the following day.

The Plot Thickens.

Eleazar suspects the love affair of Rachel and Leopold, and sends the youth away, but he hides in the hall and Rachel slips back to him. Leopold confesses he is a Christian and begs Rachel to flee the country with him. It is a crime with death as the penalty for discovery for a Christian to marry a Jew. Rachel is about to consent when Eleazar appears. They confess to the old man and he, knowing that really Rachel is neither his daughter nor a Jewess, consents. Suddenly Leopold remembers he is already married to the princess, and runs into the street. Rachel follows him.

The scene of act three is the gardens of the emperor, Eudoxie's father. A feast in honor of Prince Leopold is in progress. Eleazar and Rachel bring the jewel to Eudoxie but are astonished to recognize in Leopold the youth they know as Samuel. Rachel denounces him to the princess and accuses him of having loved a Jewess. Ruggiero says Rachel and Eleazar must die, and when Eleazar asks about the case of Leopold, Cardinal Brogni pronounces the curse of the church on all three.

Rachel Saves a Lover.

Act four shows the chamber outside the council room. Eudoxie begs Rachel to save Leopold by recanting her charges. Rachel finally consents. The cardinal begs Eleazar to embrace Christianity and save both himself and Rachel. This the old man proudly refuses to do. He again reminds Brogni of the pillage of Rome and the mysterious disappearance of the cardinal's daughter. He says the child has been reared by a Jew as a Jewess, but refuses to tell where she is.

Act five shows the scene of execution. It is to be administered by ing oil. A cauldron of the boiling oil stands near a high rock. Eleazar and Rachel are led in by monks and penitents, but Leopold has been saved by Rachel. Eleazar again refuses to reveal the secret of the cardinal's daughter. Rachel climbs to the rock and with a cry of farewell dives to her death. Then Eleazar cries to the cardinal:

"There is your daughter, whom you have sent to death," and walking with dignity to the rock, in turn huris himself into the boiling oil.

PRETTY NOSES.

A bad nose is a great affliction because there's very little one can do about it. A really very bad nose, a positively deformed one, can be made over by a facial surgeon, but this branch of surgery is not generally practiced yet, and few good men will undertake such work. During the war operations that were practical miracles were performed, and many a man who went out with a bad nose, came back with a better one, and a partly artificial face. The usual way was to graft the little finger bone to the face, in place of a damaged nose, a process that will not appeal to the most heroic beauty seeker.

Barring deformities, which must be treated through the advice of the family doctor, this much can be done by any woman anxious to improve the appearance of her nose:

The skin can be perfectly, faultlessly clear. This in itself would be a distinction; there are few noses that do not show enlarged pores around the nostrils. Use the blackhead paste the formula of which often appears in the Chats, or, after washing the skin well with soap and hot water, apply a paste of laundry starch and cold water, letting this dry in for half an hour, and then washing it out with warm water. Either method takes up the oils and dirt that clog and enlarge the pores. Of course the digestion must be looked after, or no complexion can be good.

For the rest, you can practice the

HOOVER PLANS TO CALL CONFERENCE ON RADIO

Washington, April 21.—Secretary Hoover has decided that the increasing pressure of radio problems on his department, which regulates the radio field, will require the calling of another national radio conference about the end of September.

Particularly have the difficulties of fitting in new radio stations given rise to suggestions for a new method of allocating and dividing time.

Until the conference has assembled, however, no important changes of governmental policy may be expected.

Tomorrow—Blackhead Soap Paste.

Half the world is half asleep

You cannot stay the hand of time. But time can steal youth gracefully, and leave a person still attractive. It is the vicious work of constipation that robs a sufferer of beauty, personality, and even of an interest in life itself. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings sure and safe relief from this disease.

"I'm sorry..but I'm just dead tired"

THERE'S tragedy. Often invited. Seldom able to go. She is out of the things she loves. Day after day that tired, listless feeling forces her into an exile she loathes. Yet there is pleasant, safe, permanent relief from her trouble—for it is constipation which is sapping her strength.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings certain relief from this dread disease. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN travels through the system without changing its fiber. Its bulk sweeps the intestine clean, driving out the poisons of constipation, stimulating the flow of digestive juices. It induces the system to act as nature intended. . . . How different from the action of irritating, habit-forming pills and drugs, which become less than useless unless the dose is increased.

Eat two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily with milk or cream, sprinkled over cereals, or cooked with cereals; in soups, or made into the many recipes given on the package. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring relief or the grocer returns the purchase price. In chronic cases, eat ALL-BRAN with every meal. Delicious with fruits, baked apple, etc.

KNOW THE TRUTH ABOUT BRAN

To be effective, bran fiber must go through the various digestive processes without submitting to any of them. It must pass through the entire alimentary tract without its form being changed.

What happens when a bran food is eaten? After the saliva has acted upon it, it passes through the stomach and into the intestines, where every part which is not fiber is absorbed. In ALL-BRAN the quantity of fiber is so great that it furnishes bulk enough to prevent and relieve constipation.

In a part-bran food, the quantity of fiber is so small that there is only a puny amount to do a Herculean task.

ALL-BRAN brings sure results. Demand it.

Warning! Be sure to get Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Only ALL-BRAN brings sure results. A part-bran product can, at best, be but partially effective.

Kellogg's is the original and only ALL-BRAN. Doctors recommend it. Accept no other. All grocers sell it. Leading hotels and restaurants serve it.

The Lost World

Challenger sat down upon the cut stump and groaned his impatience; but Summerlee and I were of one mind that Lord John was our leader when such practical details were in question. The climb was a more simple thing now that the rope dangled down the face of the worst part of the ascent. Within an hour we had brought up the first man in a shot-gun. The half-breeds had ascended also, and under Lord John's orders they had carried up a bale of provisions in case our first exploration should be a long one. We had each bandoliers of cartridges.

"Now, Challenger, if you really insist upon being the first man in," said Lord John, when every preparation was complete.

"I am much indebted to you for your generous permission," said the angry professor, "for never was a man so intolerant of every form of authority. Since you are good enough to allow it, I shall most certainly take it upon myself to act as pioneer upon this occasion."

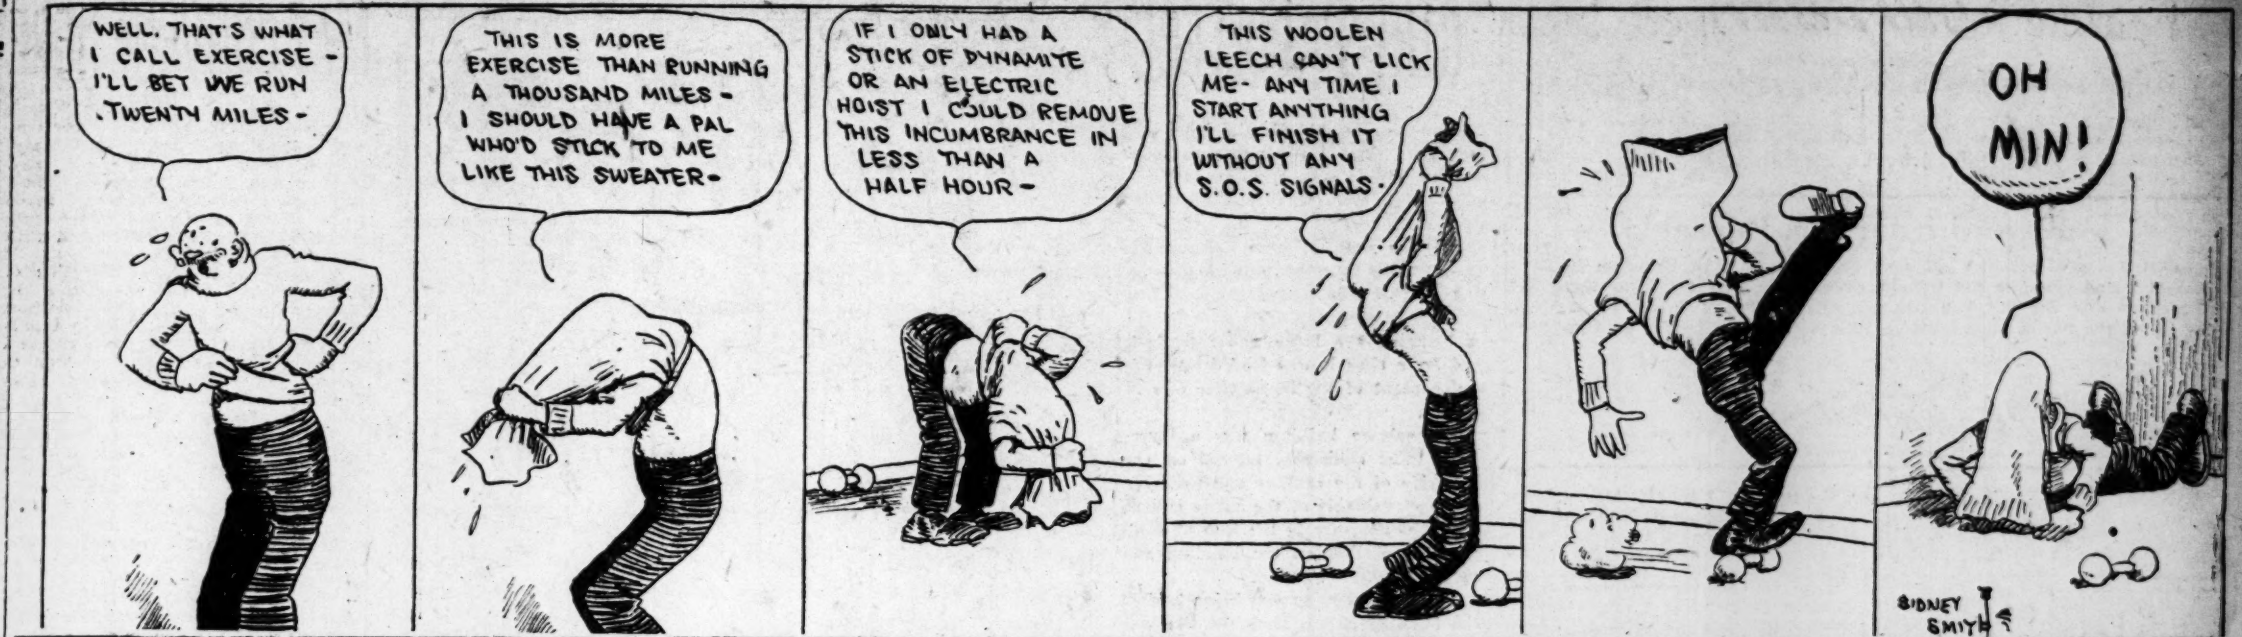

Seating himself with a leg overhanging the abyss on each side, and his hatchet slung upon his back, Challenger hopped his way across the trunk and was soon at the other side. He clambered up and waved his arms in the air.

"At last!" he cried; "at last!"

I gazed anxiously at him, with a vague expectation that some terrible fate would dart at him from the curtain of green behind him. But all was quiet, save that a strange, many-colored bird flew from under his feet and vanished among the trees.

Summerlee was the second. His wiry energy was wonderful in so frail a frame. He insisted upon having two rifles slung upon his back, so that both Professors were armed when he had made his transit. I came next, and tried hard not to look down into the horrible gulf over which I was passing. Summerlee held out the butt-end of his rifle, and an instant later I was able to grasp his hand. As Lord John, he walked across—actually walked without support! He must have nerves of iron. And there we were, the four of us, upon the dreamland, the lost world, of Maple White. To all of us it seemed the moment of our supreme triumph. Who could have guessed that it was the prelude to our supreme disaster? Let me say in a few words how the crushing blow fell upon us. We had turned from the face of the cliff and had penetrated about fifty yards of close brushwood, when here came a frightful crashing crash from behind us. With one impulse we rushed back the way we had come. The next moment the platform crumbled and let us through. For a moment this excitement was in all our minds. The next from the farther side of the rocky pinnacle before us a swarthy face, the face of Gomez the half-breed, was slowly protruded. Yes, it was Gomez, but no longer the Gomez of the demure smile and the masklike expression. Here was a face with Death is the pacemaker. Behind him, only a few yards in his rear, bounded the huge ebony figure of Zambo, our devoted negro. Even as we looked, he sprang upon the back of the fugitive and flung his arms round his neck. They rolled on the ground together. An instant afterwards Zambo rose, looked at the prostrate man, and then, waving his hand joyously to us, came running in our direction. The white figure lay motionless in the middle of the great plain.

Our two traitors had been destroyed, but the mischief that they had done lived after them. By no possible means could we get back to the pinnacle. We had been natives of the plateau. The two things were separate and apart. There was the plain which led to the canoes. Yonder beyond the violent, hazy horizon, was the stream which led back to civilization. But the link between them was missing. No human ingenuity could suggest a means of bringing the chasm which yawned between ourselves and our past lives. One instant had altered the whole condition of our existence. It was at such a moment that I learned the stuff of which my three comrades were composed. They were grave, it is true, and thoughtful, but of an invincible serenity. For the moment we could only sit among the bushes in patience and await the coming of Zambo. Presently his honest black face topped the rocks and his Herculean figure emerged upon the top of the pinnacle.

"What I do now?" he cried. "You tell me and I do it." It was a question which it was easier to ask than to answer. One thing only was clear. He was our one trustworthy link with the outside world. On no account must he leave us. "No, no!" he cried. "I not leave you. Whatever come, you always find me here. But no, you to keep Indians. Already they say too much Curupuri live on this place, and they go home. Now you leave them me no able to keep them."

CHAPTER X.

It was a fact that our Indians had shown in many ways of late that they were weary of their journey and anxious to return. We realized that Zambo spoke the truth, and that it would be impossible for him to keep them.

"Make them wait till tomorrow, Zambo," I shouted; "then I can send letter back by them."

"Very good, sar!" I promise they wait till tomorrow," said the negro. "But what I do for you now?"

There was plenty for him to do, and admirably the faithful fellow did it. First of all, under our directions, he undid the rope from the three-stump and threw one end of it across to us. It was not thicker than a clothes line, but it was of great strength, and though we could not make a bridge of it, we might find it invaluable if we had any climbing to do. He then fastened his end of the rope to the package of supplies which had been carried up

MAKING TOMATOES ROSEY.

Tomatoes being next on this list, already cut down and revised, Mr. Burbank was asked again for cultural directions.

"The same care in preparation of the soil, the sowing of the seed, the care of the seedlings afterwards, is necessary as with other vegetables, with the exception perhaps, that the tomato being a tender plant, the seeds must be sown in a loam or in a house and planted when all danger of frost is over."

"The young plants are set out in rows about four feet apart each way, unless supported by racks or trellises, then they may be grown three feet apart. Tomatoes thrive best without staking or pruning unless space is too valuable, when they may be trained to a fence."

"Are there blights and bugs and other discouragements for the gardener?" was the next question.

"Yes, but some varieties fortunately are almost or quite blight resistant, and as for the bugs they seldom trouble tomato plants. As the first days of frost approach, the green tomatoes are picked and ripened on racks in a sunny location or in a cellar. This is never necessary in warm climates."

"As the amateur had heard of the practice of digging up the entire plant in the autumn and after wrapping the roots in burlap, hanging it up in a warm sunny place, for future ripening, this bit of information was added to that already gained."

"The Burbank tomato has the great merit of being remarkably early and ripens in a sunny location or in a cellar. This is never necessary in warm climates."

Mr. Burbank here has a word of caution:

"The Burbank tomatoes bloom and form fruits when the plant is quite small, and the first cluster of blooms should be picked, giving the plants a better start. All tomatoes should be planted deep in a sunny ground for a heavy, continuous crop."

Thomasville, Ga., April 21.—(Special.)—Thomas superior court is in session here this week for the spring term. Judge John Knight, of Berrien, is presiding for Judge W. E. Thomas. Judge Knight gave a strong charge to the grand jury, stressing especially law enforcement in regard to prohibition and pistol "toting."

The case against Mrs. Cora Giles and her brother, McKimley Croft, brought here by change of venue from Colquitt county, is said to be scheduled for Monday, April 27. The indictment is for assault and battery against Mrs. Giles and Croft for an alleged attack upon Mrs. Frank Myers, superintendent, and Miss Alice Rainford, assistant superintendent, of the Berrien school. Much interest is taken in the case here as Miss Rainford has a brother living here and has visited him several times.

FLAMES MENACE GIRLS' COLLEGE

Roanoke, Va., April 21.—The science building of Hollins college, fashionable girls' school located eight miles from here, was completely destroyed by fire, the origin of which has not yet been determined. The loss was estimated at $100,000.

A call for help caused Roanoke fire officials to dispatch apparatus to aid in bringing the blaze under control, and for a time it was feared that the entire plant of the institution was in danger.

The science building was a three-story brick structure, located on the east side of the campus and probably the most valuable of the entire college group. Insurance in the sum of $35,000 was carried on the building and its contents.

A faculty meeting was being held in the building at the time the fire was discovered, about 8 o'clock.

Every one left in safety, however, and the only injury reported was to Professor Hobart Busche and Miss Kathryn Noltan, members of the faculty, who sustained burned hands while attempting to save a quantity of acid and other equipment from the flames.

BOY MAKES LEAP OF SIXTY FEET AND SAVES GIRL

Kansas City, Kan., April 21.—William Price, 18, leaped from a bridge 60 feet into the Kaw river here late yesterday and rescued Miss Sadie Scott, pretty 17-year-old orphan, who had jumped into the water because of a quarrel with her friend.

Price discovered Miss Scott clinging to a tree on the bridge. She had grasped it when she suddenly decided that she did not want to die.

Price swam with the girl 100 feet to the bank, where firemen, who had been called, were waiting. Miss Scott could not swim and Price was almost exhausted when he reached the shore.

"What did you do that for?" Price asked the girl.

"I got into quarrel with a boy; but if I had known you were on earth, I would not have done it," she answered.

"Well, goodbye, and I want to meet you again," Miss Scott called to Price as the firemen took her away.

"I will see you in a few days," Price replied.

RUM RING LEADERS, DENIED NEW TRIALS, ORDERED TO PRISON

Chicago, April 21.—A mandate for the immediate removal to prison of Russell O. Johnson, former mayor of Gary, Ind., and 42 others convicted in the notorious Gary liquor cases resulting in conviction in the district court in Indianapolis, was issued today by the United States circuit court of appeals.

The United States supreme court yesterday refused to review the conviction of Johnson and certain of the others.

A total of 55 persons, including Johnson, the city judge of Gary and other city and county officials were convicted of conspiracy to violate prohibition. Some of those convicted have paid fines and served sentences.

BURGLAR FLEES WHEN DISCOVERED IN NORCROSS HOME

An unidentified negro early Tuesday night entered the home at 14 Penn avenue, of Paul H. Norcross, former president of the chamber of commerce, but was frightened away before he was able to obtain anything of value except Mr. Norcross' pistol.

The intruder is believed to have entered the home while Mr. and Mrs. Norcross and their daughter were having dinner. Upon leaving the dining room Mr. Norcross went to the room in the rear of the house and was halted by the burglar who brandished the revolver, backing away at the same time until he reached a window and jumped to the ground.

An investigation revealed that only the pistol was missing, although the dresser drawers had been ransacked and articles strewn about the room.

TWO MEN KILLED ON ROAD NEAR ORLANDO

Orlando, Fla., April 21.—A man believed to be Luis Bencomi, Cabarete, 18, of Tampa, was found dead beside the Dixie highway near Taft about 10 miles north of here early this morning. A pack of receipts found in his pocket issued from the Cienfuegos de Tampa gave the sheriff the only clue to the identity.

Another man, apparently about 25, was also found beside the dead man in an unconscious condition with his skull crushed, dying a few minutes later. He had a gold watch in his pocket and wore gold-rimmed spectacles, but no means of actual identification.

H. H. Hudson found the bodies while driving along the highway at about 3:30 o'clock this morning and notified the sheriff.

The sheriff and his deputies expressed the opinion that a speeding automobile struck the men as they were walking down the road and failed to stop.

Tampa, Fla., April 21.—Luis Bencomi Caballero, who was found dead on the Dixie highway near Taft today, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pao R. Caballero, of West Tampa, according to W. Premo Lord, undertaker, who added that an uncle had notified him that the body would arrive here tonight at 8 o'clock.

BOOZE-LADEN LAUNCH PICKED UP AT SEA

Boston, April 21.—An abandoned motorboat, laden with liquor valued at $4,500, was picked up 40 miles northeast from Palm Beach, Fla., on April 1, according to officers of the United States Fruit company's steamship San Bruno, which reached Boston last night. What became of the crew remains a mystery.

Packed neatly in gunny bags on board were 904 bottles of whiskey, gin, champagne and beer. A bottle of Daytona Bridge tickets, a towel stamped "Hotel St. Lucie" and a man's coat bearing a tailor mark "Rivers, Jacksonville, Fla." also were found. The boat bore the registry number V-13,106. The boat was turned over to the British consul at Cristobal.

"Blushing Venus" May Rival Better Known Sister of Milo

BY FRANCISCO REA.
Rome, April 21.—A new Venus, who may rival her famous sister, "The Blushing Venus," is being created by the artist, and her fingers declare her to be one of the finest examples of Greek art.

Her lines are full of grace and the figure is sculptured with great human form with fascinating charm. The face somewhat resembles the Capitoline Venus and shows a Roman beauty's facial contour with delicate fineness.

"The Blushing Venus" head is turned slightly and gently bowed, portraying the modesty the artist intended to depict in his bashful subject. Two strands of hair hang gracefully over each shoulder. One arm is raised, the hand is open and the other hangs naturally. There is a shrinking blush on the shoulders, accentuating the spirit of modesty.

The arms and legs are sculptured with delicate attention to anatomy, with the right leg slightly enfolded and relaxed. The left leg is rigid and supports the weight of the body.

$3,000 FIRE DAMAGE TO SPILLER'S PLACE

Damage estimated at $3,000 was caused by flames early Tuesday night which gutted a confectionery store and the ladies' dressing room at Spiller's Place, on Ponce de Leon avenue, here, when the building was destroyed by a large electric sign board over the dressing room.

The dressing room was completely destroyed, while the store damage is largely the result of water and smoke, according to fire department reports.

The fire is believed to have been caused by a short circuit in the wiring of a large electric sign board over the dressing room.

GOOD WAYS GROUP BLAZE DEVASTATES MEXICAN TOWNSHIP

Washington, April 21.—Agreement was reached today at the closing session of the meeting of the joint board of state and federal highway officials to create a group of interstate roads to be known as "United States highways," which will be designated with numbers in the east probably New York, and the southeast, probably at Atlanta.

The first regional meeting will be held on the Pacific coast in May, probably at San Francisco. Others will be held in the Mississippi valley, probably at Kansas City; in the upper Mississippi valley, probably at Chicago; in the east probably New York, and the southeast, probably at Atlanta.

The board adopted the policy of the American Association of State Highway Officials concerning the "Trails association" by agreeing to permit "reputable trails associations" now existing to continue their activities provided they do not conflict with state and federal policies.

A definite stand was taken, however, against further expansion by such associations and a warning was issued urging all citizens to investigate carefully the responsibility of trail organizations and demand convincing evidence insuring proper expenditure of funds before contributing to or otherwise supporting such agencies.

COOPERATION OF FARM AND INDUSTRY URGED

Cleveland, April 21.—A closer cooperation between American industry and agriculture is necessary to offset any European coalition that may threaten the commercial strength of the United States, speakers declared in the third national conference of the movement for "better understanding between industry and agriculture" here today.

The conference, held in conjunction with the twenty-seventh annual convention of the National Metal Trades Association, was attended by industrial executives, government officials and representatives of farm organizations with upwards of 1,500,000 members.

The better understanding movement is based on "realization that through lack of understanding and indifference there has been a huge national loss in wastage and undeveloped wealth," Henry H. Lewis, of Washington, executive director of the movement, explained.

The conference will proceed on the conviction that America is confronted with a new isolation; that our possession of boundless natural resources in raw materials, oil, ore, cotton, etc., as well as much of the world's gold has engendered a feeling of envy of the United States by other nations that must be recognized," Mr. Lewis said.

No one can foresee what foreign alliances detrimental to American industry and agriculture may come into being in the near future, even in the face of the cultivation of harmony and unity in these great producing classes.

R. W. Dunlap, assistant secretary of agriculture, and Ray M. Hudson, department of commerce, official representatives at the conference were scheduled speakers at the morning session.

MORE SENSATIONS PROMISED PAPERS BY 'GLOOMY DEAN'

New Haven, Conn., April 21.—Promising that he would have something of more interest to the newspapers in his later lectures here when he attacks the question of modern social tendencies, the very Rev. William Ralph Inge, the "Gloomy Dean" of St. Paul's cathedral, London, today continued his development of the early history of Christianity, in the second of a series of lectures at the sixteenth convocation of the Yale Divinity school.

He delayed the opening of his lecture to take exception to statements in the newspapers yesterday which attributed to him criticism of the modern preacher on the grounds that there was too much demand for applause. He said that the passage was meant to apply only to the ancients and that it was more in the nature of a quotation.

By its repudiation of merely earthly authority, the church did help to break up the old civilization. The most important thing to remember in the early church was the identity of Christ with his people. The first Epistle of St. Paul holds up for Christian women a pattern. Sexual purity was strictly observed in this period. It was a reaction against the licentiousness of the age I cannot say. "The virginity became a sort of in-

C. & O. STOCKHOLDERS POSTPONE MEETING

Richmond, Va., April 21.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway was postponed today until June 25 after counsel for the minority group of stockholders opposing the leasing of the road to the greater Nickel Plate system objected to the meeting held because the annual report of the company had not been placed in the hands of stockholders 15 days before the meeting.

Social Affairs Fill D. A. R. Day At Washington

Washington, April 21.—Delegates to the 34th continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution tonight thrust aside business cares in favor of social affairs after a day of deliberation over plans for a new $8,525,000 auditorium.

Heading the social endeavor was a reception tendered by Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, president general, and her staff to the delegates. The pages of the congress were guests at a dance.

State delegations and national committees spent the afternoon in group meetings, while the congress proper stood in recess until tomorrow, after it had conducted a memorial service for deceased members of the society.

The congress saw lantern-slide views of plans for the proposed auditorium, voted its thanks to John Russell Pope, New York architect, who donated his services, but deferred acceptance of the plans until later in the week pending consideration of a plan for financing the project.

The congress adopted a resolution urging President Coolidge and congress to establish Shenandoah National park in Shenandoah county, Virginia, and adjacent territory if advisable.

ONE MAN ON FARM NOW CAN DO WORK WHICH 14 ONCE DID

Chicago, April 21.—The present decrease in the number of farm employees means, instead of decreased production, that one man, using modern farm machinery, can do as much work as 14 men, using old methods accomplished formerly, E. D. Chaswell, secretary of the Mortgage Bankers Association of America, said today at a meeting of the organization.

Farmers were on a better financial footing now than a few years ago was evident, he said, as millions of dollars in delinquent farm loans for 1922 and 1923 had been paid up during 1924.

Plans were laid at the meeting for the twelfth annual national convention of the organization, which will be held in Nashville, Tenn., September 8-10.

DAVE SHADE WILL MEET WALKER

New York, April 21.—Mickey Walker, welterweight boxing champion, and Dave Shade, of California, today signed an agreement to meet in a title bout on a date prior to August 15. Walker already has posted a $10,000 forfeit, and Shade must place a like amount in the hands of the New York state athletic commission tomorrow.

The Walker-Shade agreement clears the way to a meeting between the welterweight champion, and Harry Greb, of Pittsburgh, middleweight title holder, proposed as the feature bout of the Italian hospital fund outdoor show at the Polo Grounds here June 19.

Walker's evasion of Shade's persistent challenging led to his suspension by the New York boxing board several months ago. He was returned to grace at a recent meeting on the promise that he would meet Shade.

Tex Rickard, Yankee stadium promoter, was granted permission to stage his show featuring Mike McTigue, light-heavyweight champion, and Paul Hertenbach on May 29, only a week ahead of the Gene Tunney-Tom Gribbons battle at the Polo Grounds.

FRENCH CABINET OUTLINES POLICY

Paris, April 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—The ultimate imposition of drastic financial measures, maintenance of the embassy at the Vatican, and pacification of internal dissension, but above all real security for France, were the prime points in the ministerial declaration of the Poincare-Caillaux-Briand cabinet read before the chamber of deputies and the senate this afternoon.

France has had "a bitter disillusionment," the statement declared, but was determined to look the facts in the face.

This statement appealed to "the national concord" with reference to the finances as well as to the religious questions.

Regarding the finances, the statement declared:

"When we have succeeded finally and definitely in balancing the budget so it cannot be questioned, we will take the state out of the role of bankrupt which it has been made to fill. Then we will be obliged to ask big sacrifices of the nation. We shall appeal to all citizens in the atmosphere of national concord."

The statement said France would maintain all her present treaties and pursue the execution of the Dawes plan at the same time as the settlement of the interallied war debts.

Representative at Vatican.
The government pronounced in favor of the maintenance of a diplomatic representative at the Vatican, calling the official "a highly qualified representative" instead of an ambassador.

The declaration makes the reduction and reorganization of the army a fitting upshot of success of the negotiations for the complete tranquillization of Europe and security for the French front.

The government said it would go slowly and carefully in applying the French laws to Alsace-Lorraine.

"This," it said, "is not to be pursued except with the best of counsel, in full respect for acquired rights and the greatest care for general understanding and for national unity."

When the premier reached that part of the declaration dealing with the security problem, there were interruptions from the right "with Hindenburg."

The declaration reaffirmed the Herriot ministry's policy of security and reassured Poland as to France's position on this question.

"Faithful to all its allies, just and pacific toward all nations," says the statement, "France had the profound desire to give to the world the repose and stability of which it has such great need; but the first condition of a stable peace is that France herself be sure."

"De world is getting better," said Uncle Eben, "even 'now an' then it gets kind of restless like it was cuttin' teeth."—Washington Star.

AGGIES AGAIN ARE BEATEN BY ALA.

BY B. H. VINCENT.

With both games of the Vanderbilt series tucked away and the Commodores on their way to Nashville, the Petrels are primed for the opening clash of their annual series with the Jackets today. Dave Barbee, with a four days' rest in his system, will undoubtedly be the Petrels' choice for the hurling duty in today's game.

The Petrels had little more trouble in annexing yesterday's game from the Commodores than they did the one the day before. Ferguson was given another chance to prove his worth as a twiler, and he let the Commodores down with as much ease as he did the Howard nine last week. The Vandy nine collected seven hits off him for five runs, but the batsmen continued their batting spree of the day before and found two Vandy twirlers for an even dozen hits, which was sufficient to give them a 9-0 victory.

Coach Josh Cody sent Larry, a right-hander, against the Petrels yesterday but the Oglethorpe club found his offerings and before he knew what it was all about, the locals had five tallies across the plate. Larry was in barrels of trouble from the beginning and to save him from further punishment Coach Cody yanked him, with only one out, for McKibbin, who finished the game for Vandy. If it had not been for this disastrous slip by Larry there might have been a different tale to tell. McKibbin took the mound with a five run lead against him. Yesterday's collection of hits ran the total during the series up to 26 for the Petrels. They are credited with three triples in yesterday's game. Partridge, Ferguson, and Porter wielding the willow for one each. Porter also drove out a double in the seventh.

The crowd was clamoring for a chance to see Gill Reese, the Vandy football star, shift his feet during the afternoon. He had his only chance to display his speed in the fifth when he socked one of Ferguson's fast ones over the right field fence, on which it was not necessary for him to exert himself. Miller and Yearwood also came through for extra base blows during the afternoon, each getting a double.

After the Petrels gained a five-run lead in the first inning off Larry, the Commodores began to creep up with McKibbin encountering little trouble in holding them safely in check. They scored a marker in the third when

The baseball clubs of Boys' High and Georgia Military academy clash this afternoon at Almond park at 3 o'clock. The game today marks only the first game in the final round for the cadets and the Purple. If Boys' High succeeds in getting to Ragdale and driving in enough runs to beat the College Park nine, the race will be anything but over and several more championship battles will still be on the program, since a Purple victory would throw the league race into reverse to its credit.

SANDE WINS RETURN RACE

Have De Grace, April 21.—Earl Sande, American famous jockey, today rode his first race since he was injured at Saratoga last summer and with Sarazen, Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt's great gelding, it was Sarazen who won the race. Sande rode a six-furlong race for three-year-olds, in the time of 1:11 flat, breaking the track record by 1-5 second. He took the lead in the stretch and won easily by two lengths. Big Blaze was second, and the Vintner third. Two stallions matched. Sarazen paid $3.30; $2.70 and $2.30.

George Fee, Marist mound ace, pitched one of the best games of the season out at Almond park Tuesday, and supported by fast and near errorless fielding, defeated Tech High in the biggest upset of the year, 3-1, while Decatur had little trouble beating Commercial, 8-2. The cadets played great ball for the full nine innings, while Tech High was down on its feet and practically helpless against the masterful hurling of the Blue and Gold battery star.

Fee gave up but three hits, and the only run scored against him was a result of errors. Tech High used two pitchers in an effort to stem the attack. Mout being relieved by the fourth by Hill, the Smithie sharpshooter, but Marist had already scored enough runs to win the game and pull Tech High on its pedestal at the top of the league.

Marist drew first blood in the second on two hits and an error. Fee beat out an infield fly, and Tech High second when Block knocked a hot one through Cliscale. Flisley singled to left, and Fee beat the throw to the plate. The game was extra innings. Each side used three pitchers. Jenkins was put out of the game for disrupting a decision.

The Tech High defeat leaves G. M. A. in undisputed possession of the top place in the league race, with four wins and one defeat. Decatur's victory brings the Blue and Gold team up to 10-1, while Tech High, with four games won and two lost.

The feature of the game was the long home run Decatur's little second baseman, Anderson, drove over the outfield in the fourth, scoring two men ahead of him.

Tech Freshmen, Tech High, G. M. A. and Boys' High staged a track meet over at Tech flats Tuesday afternoon that was hotly contested throughout, despite the fact that the freshmen piled up 61 points to beat Tech High, second with 39.

The meet was originally intended to be a three-cornered affair with Boys' High, Tech High and the Jackets, but G. M. A. entered at the last minute and showed a surprisingly strong team. The meet was virtually a triangular affair after all, however, since Boys' High had only a portion of its cinder squad on the field and placed in only one event.

Eaton, of G. M. A., won both the sprints, taking the 100-yard dash in 10.1 and the 220-yard race in 22.4. The freshmen had things entirely their own way in the hurdles, placing all three men in both the low and high hurdles.

Tuesday's defeat was the second for Tech High, which suffered at the hands of Decatur this season.

With a cold wind whipping across Spiller field to keep pitchers from getting the soupbone properly annoyed for the first inning, Joe Martina, the best that Larry Gilbert carries in his pitching stable, handed the Crackers a 4-0 victory yesterday that gives the home crowd an edge on the New Orleans series.

Today the last of the games in this series between the Crackers and Pels is up with Harry Courtney pitching for our side, and probably Puz Cavet or Shovel Hodge slinging for the Gilbert crowd.

Yesterday's game, with the exception of Martina's expensive wildness in the first inning, was the best that has been offered on the local show grounds this year. There was hitting, but not the free hitting of every other game so far. There was good pitching and good fielding with the exception of the second inning when the Pels inflicted dead and probably accounted for the run that was scored in that frame.

Martina was wild, but he gave up only one hit, Harry Courtney, who has reputations as maulers of the apple, McLaughlin, who worked all the way for Atlanta, was even stungier in the second game, giving up only eight hits and walking just one man. He made a couple of wild pitches, but he was willing to mark them up to the chill in the air.

Nichols changed his batting order yesterday with Red Smith out nursing a split thumb. Murphy took Niehoff's place second in the line, while the skipper moved down to follow Cullip, Krehmer, back at short, followed Niehoff, with Gazzella taking seventh place.

Martina started the day with a pass to first for Frankie Zoeller, second, Dushman (G. M. A.), third, Wright (Fresh), Time, 4:58.2.

High jump: First, Oliver (G. M. A.), second, Holland (T. H. S.), third, Hill (T. H. S.). Height, 5 feet 5 inches.

Broad jump: First, Carnes (T. H. S.), second, Mays (Fresh), third, Hill (T. H. S.). Distance, 10 feet 6 inches.

Shot: First, Elliot (Fresh), second, Passons (T. H. S.), third, Oliver (G. M. A.). Distance, 45 feet 8 inches.

Half-mile relay: First, Robertson (Fresh), second, Randolph (T. H. S.), third, Oliver (G. M. A.). Distance, 13 feet 9 inches.

120-yard low hurdles: First, Freshmen, composed of Robertson, Williams, Cabins and Koutz; second, T. H. S.; third, G. M. A. Time, 1:38.

220-yard low hurdles: First, Roberts (Fresh), second, Mason (Fresh), third, Sprick (Fresh). Time, 18 seconds.

For three innings, McLaughlin set the New Orleans hitters down without one reaching first. In the fourth, however, Fogarty singled, but was left stranded after going to second on a wild pitch. In the fifth, Ewoldt singled to center and went to second on McLaughlin's wild pitch, and scored when Gardner knocked the ball into right field, just inside the foul line, for a double.

After the fifth, the Pels knocked five hits, one double, but failed to score.

In the sixth the Crackers added their fifth hit, a double, and advanced toward third base, advanced to third when Brock got his second single and scored on Zoeller's single to center.

Joe Brown's fast-stepping baseball club Tuesday at the O'Keefe stronghold gave a decisive illustration of why and how it won the Junior High title last season and is leading the field this year when Whitney Brown mound ace, twirled a one-hit game and beat the Irishmen in a one-sided game, 7 to 1.

The Brown boys pitched a masterful game, striking out 14 men and having three completely under control except in the sixth, when a sacrifice, stolen base and the only O'Keefe hit net

A Letter Written To A Client Today--

SMOKE ZONE OR OZONE

- Here is an opportunity for you to read the most intimate story of Century-old house building.
- In the early days before the law, a few dozen families would band together--the men folks would take "turns" watching--a large club was their weapon--he was called a smiter. (The origin of the name Smith.)
- This one act of humans created "STATE."
- A few rules were agreed upon and this created "LAW."
- "LAW" and "STATE" have created "GOVERNMENT," which three have created and protected homes. (Houses.)

"HOUSES"

- This is the subject of our booklet.
- Read it and see if we are worthy of fifteen minutes of your time, and then see if you are game enough to drop us a post card. Let me see if you have reacted.
- There was a time when you could buy an Alarm Clock for 49c, but some one took the A-C seriously and made BIG BEN that sells for $3.50.
- We are very serious about HOLLOW TILE and CONCRETE House Building and believe they should be out of the SMOKE ZONE and in the OZONE
- We have for years been originating these wonderful homes.
- The art of the Mediterranean Sea District, coupled with American Architects and modern materials, is thoroughly exemplified in this booklet.

Respectfully,
J. L. TURNER

- If you send a card, too, we will send you this booklet.
- Or you may call Walnut 3810 and ask for Mr. Davidson.

2 AUTO VICTIMS SERIOUSLY HURT

Two victims of five automobile accidents during Tuesday were reported by surgeons at Grady hospital late Tuesday night to be in a dangerous condition.

Those who doctors fear are fatally hurt are 6-year-old Harold Elliott, 89 Hood street, and E. L. Hawkins, 31, of 303 D'Alvigny street.

The other victims are 4-year-old Dorothy Smith, of 56 East Cain street; Riley Puckett, 694 Chestnut street, and R. E. Linder, 28, 818 Marietta street.

The Elliott youth is in Grady hospital after he was struck by a truck driven by J. C. Capps, 190 Oakland street, near the intersection of Cooper and Richardson streets.

Capps, stopped the truck, and summoned an ambulance. After assisting the victim he reported the accident to police and a case of reckless driving was docketed against him. He was released on a copy of charges.

Hawkins is thought to be suffering from serious internal injuries, besides concussion of the brain.

Linder and Puckett both had their backs sprained, and were severely bruised about the legs and received several lacerations on the face and hands.

Dorothy Smith, who was at first thought to be seriously hurt, will be discharged from the hospital some time Wednesday morning, doctors stated. She has a bad wound on the head and her arm was mangled.

Puckett, a blind musician, Linder and Hawkins were in an automobile that collided with a Stouff Mountain street car at Clarkston. Linder and Puckett escaped with minor cuts and bruises, while Hawkins was injured.

A blow on the head is said to have caused brain concussion.

TOBACCO PROBERS EXPLOSION CAUSES FALSE FIRE REPORT

Explosion of four powerful electrical transformers in the basement of the Hurt building about 7 o'clock Tuesday morning, caused a false fire report to be sent out by the fire department.

The volume of smoke which poured from the basement just after the explosion was the cause of a fire alarm being turned in, and reports that the building was burning. However, no damage was reported.

Building electricians, aided by Georgia Railway & Power company linemen, completed the necessary repairs and resumption of elevator operation was possible about 9 o'clock.

The mishap was attributed to a short circuit in the wiring.
